Sunday Closing Law Appears To Be Shelved

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's legal monster, the Sunday closing law, is fast asleep and likely to stay that way until the General Assembly chooses to take him on again.

An Associated Press survey of Ohio communities showed that almost without exception, enforcement officials and courts have thrown up their hands in disgust and vowed they will ignore the antiquated Sunday closing law until the legislature clarifies it.

There are indications that the 106th General Assembly may tangle with the problem but Rep. Don K. Cooper, R-Ashtabula, the man regarded most likely to introduce a bill, says he is having second thoughts.

"I'm not sure yet, I'm still giving it a lot of thought," Cooper said, adding that he will decide within the next few days.

"I'm considering a new concept, something that has not been tried before. But it's too soon to say. I've got to see it on paper before I decide," Cooper said.

Cooper declined to elaborate on his possible new approach except to say it would call "for just a couple of changes in the present law."

He hinted, however, that the changes would be major ones that might fall not too far short of repealing the ancient statute. It would seem not worth the time and trouble for minor changes which would not get to the heart of the problem.

Cooper was sponsor of a bill passed by the House but rejected by the Senate in the 1963 legislature. His measure spelled out what items could be sold legally on Sunday just as did a proposed constitutional amendment voters rejected a year earlier.

Ohio's blue law—so named because the original ones centuries ago were printed on blue paper—was enacted in 1831. It was amended in 1864, 1896, and again in 1959.

Landslides Kill Pair; 5 Missing

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Two persons were killed today and five were missing in a landslide at the coastal lumber town of Ocean Falls, 300 miles north-west of Vancouver, police reported.

Ham radio operator Einar Carlson at Ocean Falls said further slides are feared.

The slide followed torrential rains and heavy snow runoffs after the temperature rose above freezing.

The police said several duplex houses were demolished in a low-lying area.

Carlson said two bodies were recovered.

Other families in the coastal British Columbia community of 3,000 were evacuated to the Crown Zellerbach pulp and paper plant, the only industry in the isolated community.

Telephone lines to the region went down, apparently when the slide struck at 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

The slide followed by five days a slide 110 miles east of Vancouver in which a crumbling wall of a mountain toppled over a highway and killed four persons. Officials believe an earth tremor was responsible.

U.S. Reveals Its Planes Smashing Red Supply Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers have been smashing at Communist supply and reinforcement lines running through Laos for at least a month, government sources said today.

Wednesday's strike — which cost the United States two Air Force jets — bore down on Route 7, key segment of a road and trail network feeding both the Red Pathet Lao in Central Laos and the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

American authorities refused to say anything publicly beyond the terse announcement that an F100 Supersabre and an F105 Thunderchief were shot down in Central Laos by ground fire.

Defense Department spokesman Arthur Sylvester declined to discuss the type of a mission the two jets were flying.

Later it was reported that the pilot of the F105, Capt. Albert C. Vollmer of Denton, Kan., and Henrietta, N.Y., had been rescued. And early today the Pentagon announced that the F100 pilot, Capt. Charles L. Ferguson of Clovis, N.M., and Parma, Idaho, had been "successfully recovered and was all right."

At first Ferguson was reported missing.

Four Navy and Air Force jets were shot down over Laos prior to Wednesday's losses. Each was either conducting photo reconnaissance or escorting planes taking pictures of Red supply roads and trails.

For weeks, the Communist Chinese and North Vietnamese have been claiming that U.S. air and sea forces have been raiding Communist territory.

The U.S. government evidently is not ready to acknowledge that its war planes are in combat outside the borders of South Viet Nam.

The degree of escalation of the war still is rather low.

The issue of whether it will be stepped up further — possibly to strike at production and supply centers, rail lines and military bases inside Viet Nam — is in doubt.

So far, sources said, the air strikes against supply lines leading from North Viet Nam through Laos have been conducted chiefly by American planes, with some activity by Laotian-piloted aircraft. The South Vietnamese air force has not yet taken part in these operations, the sources said.

There was no word here on what downed the F100 and F105. But it is known that there are radar-directed 37mm anti-aircraft guns in Laos, probably manned by North Vietnamese troops.

Ohio Industry Show Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Development announced Wednesday that it will give the state's manufacturers "an unprecedented opportunity" to show off their products.

Development Director Fred P. Neuschwander said that a new industrial display program centered around the rotunda of Ohio's Capitol will be opened Feb. 8.

The director listed two major objectives of the display:

To tell visitors to the rotunda about the products in which Ohio ranks first in the nation and to enable Ohio manufacturers and industrialists to display their wares in an impressive "showroom."

The department is contacting Ohio trade associations and manufacturers' organizations to schedule the displays. The first exhibit will be on tomato juice, the director said.

Partially-Completed Apartment Destroyed

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (AP) — An explosion of a kerosene heater is blamed for a fire that wrecked a partially-completed, 16-unit apartment complex just west of this Ohio River community. The blaze Wednesday completely destroyed the structure which developer Charles E. Price said was being built at a cost of $200,000. No one was reported injured.

Obscure Village Labeled Symbol Of U.S. Ill-Fortune in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — At an obscure village named Binh Gia 200 bodies of South Viet Nam's best-trained, best-equipped and best-seasoned combat troops lay in the brush and rubble.

In the last six days of 1964 they had faced the most powerful Communist onslaught mounted to date in the war in South Viet Nam.

The spectacle of these bodies being removed on ox carts and litters was a fitting symbol of the decline in military fortunes for the government and the United States.

As 1965 began, there no longer was much question in the minds of any Vietnamese or U.S. officials here that the war was being lost.

The remaining uncertainties were how fast the war was being lost, and whether there still was a reasonable chance of reversing the tide.

The Vietnamese war always has been a hard thing to measure, because it is not a war for territory but for people and supplies. Some parts of Viet Nam are more or less controlled by the Saigon government, others are more or less controlled by the Viet Cong shadow government, and a third category is controlled by neither side.

These patterns of control, never known with any real certainty, change from day to day and even from hour to hour. It all depends on who has the strongest forces at any given point and time.

Increasingly, the advantage of

U.S. May Cut U.N. Payments

Delegates Warned In Soviet Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — The United States is reported telling United Nations members that it will take a second look at the big sums it pours into U.N. projects if they let the Soviet Union keep its General Assembly vote without settling its peacekeeping debts.

Informants said U.S. officials were relaying this warning to delegates as the time nears for the threatened showdown over Soviet refusal to pay U.N. peacekeeping assessments.

In another effort to avoid a clash when the assembly resumes Monday, Secretary-General U Thant called in U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Soviet Chief Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko Wednesday.

Neither Stevenson nor Fedorenko gave any indication whether any progress had been made toward breaking the deadlock.

Philippine Ambassador Salvador P. Lopez, who talked with Thant after he saw Stevenson, told reporters he saw no sign of a breakthrough.

Thant has been sounding out the two powers on an Asian-African plan to resolve the dispute. It would set aside for this session Article 19 of the U.N. charter, which says a member two years in arrears on assessments loses its assembly vote.

This would deny voting rights to Russia, France and 16 other nations who are two years or more behind because of their refusal to pay for the Congo and Middle East operations.

The plan also calls for voluntary contributions to a rescue fund to help clear up the peacekeeping deficit of nearly $86 million.

The United States has agreed to the voluntary contributions but refuses to waive Article 19.

The Soviets have agreed to pay an unspecified sum at an unspecified time into a voluntary fund, provided it is not earmarked for peacekeeping as such. They have threatened to quit the U.N. if deprived of their vote.

Rains Curtail Ohio Drought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — General rains of last December improved statewide drought conditions, the Ohio Water Division reports.

Paul Kaser and Leonard Hartstone, state hydrologists, said the rains helped to restore some of the state's long-lost moisture and that the rainfall should improve ground-water levels, reservoir storage and stream flow.

They said December's rainfall was above normal for the first time since April 1964 and restored soil moisture to near field capacity to a three-to-four-foot depth. Generally, the rainfall was distributed normally across the state, ranging from more than five inches along the Ohio River from Cincinnati to Portsmouth, to two inches and less in the northern part of Ohio.

Liquor Fund Divided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Chester W. Goble reported today the distribution of $2,762,575 in liquor permit fees to political subdivisions.

The Viet Cong are using Ho's successful tactics now.

Because the war is so hard to measure, Americans have tried to draw conclusions and perceive trends from statistics. But until a little over a year ago, there were no reliable statistics.

Viet Cong fighting strength has grown dramatically and steadily during the past three years, despite their increasingly bloody losses. Most of this strength has been the result of local recruiting in South Viet Nam itself.

U.S. intelligence experts estimated three years ago that main force Viet Cong troops numbered around 18,000. By last July, this estimate had climbed again and again, the tiger can

Aid Programs Available

New Interest Is Injected Into Airport Possibility

Visions of expanded airport facilities in the Circleville-Pickaway County community took on new dimensions yesterday.

Some of the ingredients essential to an improved aviation program here drew considerable thought when the Airport and Area Development Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce met for a joint luncheon session at Pickaway Arms. On hand to offer pertinent information were Norman Crabtree, Fred Herr and Edward Hurley, all representing the Ohio Department of Development.

Crabtree, chief of the Aviation Division of the Ohio Department of Commerce, stressed the importance of studying all alternatives available for construction of a facility that would meet the needs here. He said the Department of Development would lend all possible assistance to a local program.

Hurley, chief of the Development Department's Local Planning Bureau, reviewed financial aspects and several pre-project requirements such as overall planning — to include Zoning. Both he and Crabtree emphasized the importance of aviation to industries already here and to those that might consider this area in the future.

CRABTREE described an adequate airport as a "front door to a community."

He said many executives now think in terms of "time, not miles." He defined aviation as the creator and chief exponent of this outlook.

Jack Clifton, Chamber president offered the question: "What steps should be followed here in getting an airport?" The Development Department representatives answered with a rundown on aids that are available for airport construction.

They listed assistance programs under three general categories: 1. federal aid to local governmental agencies; 2. federal aid to private individuals and agencies; 3. state aid for airport construction.

The spokesmen noted that combinations of the three general categories could possibly be followed.

Crabtree, comparing an airport runway to the construction of a new street or road, indicated such a facility would probably be under the jurisdiction of a political subdivision — and more directly by a duly named airport authority.

The Ohio Aviation Division chief mentioned that a "pretty fair" runway could be constructed at a cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. Further exploring the Circleville-Pickaway County potential, he cited the ideal flat ground and good drainage area found in this community as favorable airport factors.

GLANCING at all aspects of an airport, Crabtree asserted that a runway is not initially a revenue producing operation in all cases. However, he commented on the indirect benefits that constitute the real worth of such a facility.

Chamber officials taking part in the discussion in addition to president Clifton included Airport and Area Development Committee heads D. E. Goodchild and Dale Delong and their panel members, Chamber vice president Earl Palm and Mrs. E. R. Bennett, secretary.

The vote was 70 to 59.

The new leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, had endorsed Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey as his personal choice for the job of second in command.

By endorsing Frelinghuysen, Ford had laid the prestige of his own new job squarely on the line.

Although Arends had said in advance that his election should not be interpreted as a blow at Ford, such a reading of the result seemed inevitable.

Ford took over the leadership only last week by ousting old-liner Charles A. Halleck of Indiana by a 73-67 vote.

There are 140 Republicans in the House, so today's 70-59 vote showed there were 11 absentees. The ballot was secret.

$170,000 in U.S. Aid Given in Ohio Flood

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio communities hit by the March 1964 floods have received $170,000 in federal funds to help finance damage costs, and they stand to receive some $450,000 more.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said the latest funds, released Wednesday by Ohio Civil Defense headquarters, totaled $41,500 and went to Manchester, Adams County ($19,400); Cleves, Hamilton County ($7,700); and Aberdeen, Brown County ($13,300).

State Aides Ask Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Employees Council reported today that a bill proposing a 40 month across-the-board increase for state employees will be submitted to the legislature.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for a record-low $3.38 billion in foreign aid funds.

Johnson's proposal—$1.17 billion in arms aid and $2.21 billion in economic assistance during the coming fiscal year—was the lowest such presidential request since the beginning of massive foreign aid under the Marshall Plan after World War II.

Johnson stressed continued efforts to streamline the program. In a special message to Congress outlining the 1965-66 aid program, Johnson said more than a half-billion dollars will be used for weapons and economic help to counter Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam and Laos.

"Indeed, $500 million may not be enough," the President said. He said he would ask an additional open-end "standby authorization," for use if he decides later that more money is needed "to protect our interests there" against the Reds' "frontal attack."

The presidential message left undecided some touchy matters that are likely to come up in Congress as it begins work on the bills to set ceilings for, and name the amounts of, the aid programs for the coming year.

The message did not say whether further aid will be going to Egypt and Indonesia, whose presidents have publicly scorned U.S. assistance.

Administration officials say direct aid to those two countries is now small. Nevertheless there have been protests in Congress against continuing any part of it.

Also left open was whether the specific legislation — to be sent to Congress later — will be in one package or in separate bills. Senate and House members are at odds on this. Administration officials said the economic and military measures might be split this year.

The $3.38 billion Johnson is seeking compares with the approximately $3.52 billion he sought, and the $3.25 billion he got, from Congress last year. Previous presidential foreign aid requests have run up to the $8.5 billion proposed by President Harry S. Truman in 1952.

Administration officials describe the new proposal as a bare bones program and express hope Congress will not cut deeply into it. Such reductions in the past have ranged as high as a billion dollars.

Sketching the aims of the program, Johnson told Congress that amid the conflict and confusion of a turbulent world, "the United States holds firm to its primary goal — a world of stability, freedom and peace, where independent nations can

$400 Million Road Bill Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio plans to spend some $400 million this year to construct and improve highways, and by the end of the year 56 per cent of its Interstate System will be open to traffic, Highway Director P. E. Masheter said today.

The director said the Interstate System, exclusive of the Ohio Turnpike, opened by the end of the year will include 117 miles of interstate projects programmed for this year at a cost of $250 million. The federal government furnishes 90 per cent of this amount.

Masheter said the state projects, including resurfacing and repairs, will include work on 2,000 miles of highway at a cost of $25 million. Construction on urban, primary and secondary routes will include 190 miles at a cost of $125 million.

The $400-million figure, he said, represents an increase of about $70 million over the 1964 total expenditure for construction and improvements.

Thant has been sounding out the two powers on an Asian-African plan to resolve the dispute. It would set aside for this session Article 19 of the U.N. charter, which says a member two years in arrears on assessments loses its assembly vote.

This would deny voting rights to Russia, France and 16 other nations who are two years or more behind because of their refusal to pay for the Congo and Middle East operations.

The plan also calls for voluntary contributions to a rescue fund to help clear up the peacekeeping deficit of nearly $86 million.

The United States has agreed to the voluntary contributions but refuses to waive Article 19.

The Soviets have agreed to pay an unspecified sum at an unspecified time into a voluntary fund, provided it is not earmarked for peacekeeping as such. They have threatened to quit the U.N. if deprived of their vote.

Rains Curtail Ohio Drought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — General rains of last December improved statewide drought conditions, the Ohio Water Division reports.

Paul Kaser and Leonard Harstine, state hydrologists, said the rains helped to restore some of the state's long-lost moisture and that the rainfall should improve ground-water levels, reservoir storage and stream flow.

They said December's rainfall was above normal for the first time since April 1964 and restored soil moisture to near field capacity to a three-to-four-foot depth. Generally, the rainfall was distributed normally across the state, ranging from more than five inches along the Ohio River from Cincinnati to Portsmouth, to two inches and less in the northern part of Ohio.

Aid Programs Available

New Interest Is Injected Into Airport Possibility

Visions of expanded airport facilities in the Circleville-Pickaway County community took on new dimensions yesterday.

Some of the ingredients essential to an improved aviation program here drew considerable thought when the Airport and Area Development Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce met for a joint luncheon session at Pickaway Arms. On hand to offer pertinent information were Norman Crabtree, Fred Herr and Edward Hurley, all representing the Ohio Department of Development.

Crabtree, chief of the Aviation Division of the Ohio Department of Commerce, stressed the importance of studying all alternatives available for construction of a facility that would meet the needs here. He said the Department of Development would lend all possible assistance to a local program.

Hurley, chief of the Development Department's Local Planning Bureau, reviewed financial aspects and several pre-project requirements such as overall planning — to include Zoning. Both he and Crabtree emphasized the importance of aviation to industries already here and to those that might consider this area in the future.

Crabtree described an adequate airport as a "front door to a community." He said many executives now think in terms of "time, not miles". He defined aviation as the creator and chief exponent of this outlook.

Jack Clifton, Chamber president offered the question: "What steps should be followed here in getting an airport?" The Development Department representatives answered with a rundown on aids that are available for airport construction.

They listed assistance programs under three general categories: 1. federal aid to local governmental agencies; 2. federal aid to private individuals and agencies; 3. state aid for airport construction.

The spokesmen noted that combinations of the three general categories could possibly be followed.

Crabtree, comparing an airport runway to the construction of a new street or road, indicated such a facility would probably be under the jurisdiction of a political subdivision — and more directly by a duly named airport authority.

The Ohio Aviation Division chief mentioned that a "pretty fair" runway could be constructed at a cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. Further exploring the Circleville-Pickaway County potential, he cited the ideal flat ground and good drainage area found in this community as favorable airport factors.

GLANCING at all aspects of an airport, Crabtree asserted that a runway is not initially a revenue producing operation in all cases. However, he commented on the indirect benefits that constitute the real worth of such a facility.

Chamber officials taking part in the discussion in addition to president Clifton included Airport and Area Development Committee heads D. E. Goodchild and Dale Delong and their panel members, Chamber vice president Earl Palm and Mrs. E. R. Bennett, secretary.

The vote was 70 to 59.

The new leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, had endorsed Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey as his personal choice for the job of second in command.

By endorsing Frelinghuysen, Ford had laid the prestige of his own new job squarely on the line.

Although Arends had said in advance that his election should not be interpreted as a blow at Ford, such a reading of the result seemed inevitable.

Ford took over the leadership only last week by ousting old liner Charles A. Halleck of Indiana by a 73-67 vote.

There are 140 Republicans in the House, so today's 70-59 vote showed there were 11 absentees. The ballot was secret.

$170,000 in U.S. Aid Given in Ohio Flood

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio communities hit by the March 1964 floods have received $170,000 in federal funds to help finance damage costs, and they stand to receive some $450,000 more.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said the latest funds, released Wednesday by Ohio Civil Defense headquarters, totaled $41,500 and went to Manchester, Adams County ($19,400); Cleves, Hamilton County ($8,700); and Aberdeen, Brown County ($13,300).

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 17-year-old novice boxer whose heart stopped briefly after he was felled in a golden gloves bout Tuesday night, died today.

The boxer, Jerry Como Jr., never regained consciousness after a left hook to the temple dropped him to the canvas.

Doctors said there was a faint heartbeat when Como was carried from the ring, but the heart stopped later. Doctors performed a tracheotomy, cutting open the throat to help the boy's breathing. A machine was used to help maintain heart action.

Como's father, who was his co-trainer, was in his corner when the boy collapsed during a fight with Harvey Christian, 16. Both fighters weighed about 135 pounds.

Flying Assn. Will Support Airport Move

Robert Litter passed on the details of yesterday's Chamber meeting on a local aviation program to a regular session of Circleville Flying Assn. last night.

The association discussed the possibilities and the consensus was that members would cooperate fully with any positive efforts made for the development here of a modern airport.

The group also saw three films on the general subject of aviation.

The group also voted to set up an annual membership fee of $3 to be used for acquisition of educational matter and to cover general expenses.

The February meeting will feature a talk by Warren Harmon, long a certified aircraft inspector, on engines, power plant problems and quirks.

The notification was given Washington Wednesday, but officials say they are not surprised. The State Department has been aware of Turkey's lack of enthusiasm for about two months.

Turkey borders Russia, and officials speculated that Moscow's stiff opposition to MLF might have had something to do with the decision.

Uncle Sam's pet tiger already has picked up more than its share of thorns. France attacked MLF violently last month. Britain's new Labor government has been working on alternative plans. Other Allies are cool. In fact, West Germany is the only major Western power to see MLF in the same light that Washington does.

Turkey's desertion is the first, however, and officials consider it a heavy psychological blow. Others, it is feared, might follow suit.

MLF is a proposal for a separate force of surface ships, equipped with nuclear-tipped Polaris missiles and manned by a mixed crew of Allied sailors. In this way America's allies would share in a nuclear force and yet proliferation of nuclear weapons would be avoided.

Johnson Asks Only Third Be For Armaments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for a record-low $3.38 billion in foreign aid funds.

Johnson's proposal—$1.17 billion in arms aid and $2.21 billion in economic assistance during the coming fiscal year—was the lowest such presidential request since the beginning of massive foreign aid under the Marshall Plan after World War II.

Johnson stressed continued efforts to streamline the program.

In a special message to Congress outlining the 1965-66 aid program, Johnson said more than a half-billion dollars will be used for weapons and economic help to counter Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam and Laos.

"Indeed, $500 million may not be enough," the President said.

He said he would ask an additional open-ended "standby authorization," for use if he decides later that more money is needed "to protect our interests there" against the Reds' "frontal attack."

The presidential message left undecided some touchy matters that are likely to come up in Congress as it begins work on the bills to set ceilings for, and name the amounts of, the aid programs for the coming year.

The message did not say whether further aid will be going to Egypt and Indonesia, whose presidents have publicly scorned U.S. assistance.

Administration officials say direct aid to those two countries is now small. Nevertheless there have been protests in Congress against continuing any part of it.

Also left open was whether the specific legislation — to be sent to Congress later — will be in one package or in separate bills. Senate and House members are at odds on this. Administration officials said the economic and military measures might be split this year.

The $3.38 billion Johnson is seeking compares with the approximately $3.52 billion he sought, and the $3.25 billion he got, from Congress last year.

Previous presidential foreign aid requests have run up to the $8.5 billion proposed by President Harry S. Truman in 1952.

Administration officials describe the new proposal as a bare bones program and express hope Congress will not cut deeply into it. Such reductions in the past have ranged as high as a billion dollars.

Sketching the aims of the program, Johnson told Congress that amid the conflict and confusion of a turbulent world, "the United States holds firm to its primary goal — a world of stability, freedom and peace, where independent nations can

$400 Million Road Bill Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio plans to spend some $400 million this year to construct and improve highways, and by the end of the year 56 per cent of its Interstate System will be open to traffic, Highway Director P. E. Masheter said today.

The director said the Interstate System, exclusive of the Ohio Turnpike, opened by the end of the year will include 117 miles of interstate projects programmed for this year at a cost of $250 million. The federal government furnishes 90 per cent of this amount.

Masheter said the state projects, including resurfacing and repairs, will include work on 2,000 miles of highway at a cost of $25 million. Construction on urban, primary and secondary routes will include 190 miles at a cost of $125 million.

The $400-million figure, he said, represents an increase of about $70 million over the 1964 total expenditure for construction and improvements.

enjoy the benefits of modern knowledge."

"Here is our difference with the Communists — and our strength. They would use their skills to forge new chains of tyranny. We would use ours to free men from the bonds of the past," he said.

Against that background, Johnson said it is to America's own benefit to share part of her largesse with less affluent peoples overseas. Noting that, in his State of the Union message, he had called for a harmony between man and society, to enlarge the meaning of life and elevate the quality of civilization, he concluded:

"This summons is not — and cannot be — addressed to Americans alone. For our own security and well-being, as responsible free men, we must seek to share our capacity for growth, and the promise of a better life, with our fellow men around the world.

"That is what foreign aid is all about.

"We have pledged our strength — economic and military — in defense of those who would join in working toward a stable, prosperous world."

A large chunk of the economic aid in the new program — $580 million — is being earmarked for the Alliance for Progress program of assistance for Latin America.

This is $70 million above last year's appropriation, and Johnson said the amount is being increased because of "the way our good neighbors to the south are meeting the challenge of development."

"The alliance is taking hold. The war on poverty in Latin America is under way," he said.

On the other hand, he said, Nationalist China will no longer get help from the aid-administering Agency for International Development, because the country's economy has surged forward so well.

This winds up a 10-year program of large-scale U.S. assistance to the Nationalist government, headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Now, Johnson said, "Free China has joined other nations as a good cash customer for U.S. exports."

In general, Johnson said, an increasing amount — 85 per cent in fiscal 1966 — of U.S. development loans in Asia and Africa will be committed under international arrangements, in which other countries are contributing.

Immigration Plan Studied

Guarded Optimism Voiced by Solons
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of legislation recommended by President Johnson to revamp the nation's immigration law expressed guarded optimism today about making a breakthrough in the obstacle-ridden field.

Johnson's key proposal was to do away with an immigration quota system based on the national origins of the U.S. population in 1920. The system favors immigrants from Northern and Western Europe over those from other parts of the world.

In a special message Wednesday he urged Congress to abolish this system over a five-year period and allow admission of immigrants on the basis of needed work skills, family relationships and priority of registration.

Johnson's predecessors — John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman — tried without success to persuade Congress to eliminate or to overhaul the national-origins quota system.

Critics contend it discriminates against Italians, Greeks and other southeastern Europeans — to say nothing of Asians.

Whether Johnson will make any headway remains to be seen. But one Senate source said that he understands "the push is on this year."

In the last Congress, a virtually identical bill submitted by Kennedy was backed by Johnson but got nowhere.

A House Judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio, held hearings last week on the bill. Feighan is an outspoken foe of the legislation.

However, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he is optimistic about getting the measure before the House for a vote this year.

Two escapees from the Fairfield School for Boys appeared in Pickaway County Juvenile Court yesterday on charges of burglary and carrying a concealed weapon.

Dr. Schweitzer Honored On His 90th Birthday

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer's famous jungle hospital was thronged today as the man often called the world's greatest living missionary celebrated his 90th birthday.

Hundreds of well-wishers were still en route to the outpost three miles from Lambarene where Schweitzer has spent much of his life treating the sick of French Equatorial Africa.

The throng included black men, entire villages of grateful tribesmen, and white men, some 200 Europeans and a few Americans from outside Africa. They came by plane, river boat and on foot.

Schweitzer, who has helped more than 60,000 persons at the hospital he founded 40 years ago and won a Nobel peace prize, is stooped and burdened with age.

But the old man with the bushy white hair and the drooping mustache still had his familiar twinkle as he told visitors:

"I assure you I feel wonderful. I am grateful you could come."

A living legend because of his humanitarian work, Dr. Schweitzer is also one of the controversial figures of Africa. Despite criticism from some Africans, he has refused to

FSB Escapees Are Sentenced

The other, a 15-year-old boy from Salem, O., was placed in the custody of the Ohio Youth Commission. He was involved in the two entries with the other youth.

Juveniles who appeared before Judge Guy Cline recently on traffic charges were as follows:

tions — exempting services for travelers, operation of recreational facilities, entertainment, and state and county fairs, among others.

Since that time the pressures for further change have grown steadily, largely with the spread of big discount stores whose Sunday sales lure competitors into opening their doors.

Also a factor in the drive for a more liberal law has been the Lawson Milk Co., operator of a huge chain of dairy stores which obtained petitions for the ill-fated constitutional proposal in 1962.

Strict interpretation of the law bans the sale of everything not spelled out in the 1959 exemptions or those things which are not necessary for the "health, welfare, or safety" of the purchase.

This vague clause is the crux of the whole problem.

In what appears to be the latest real effort to enforce the law, eight persons were arrested in mid-November at Dover in Tuscarawas County.

One judge found three persons innocent and another judge found one defendant guilty. The conflicting verdicts resulted in indefinite postponement of all the cases.

Marion also was the scene of an attempted crackdown but officials there ran into trouble when a judge ruled it was legal for drug and variety stores to remain open.

The Marion Council of Churches conducted a citizens' poll which showed that only 321 of 2,236 persons replying were in favor of lifting the ban altogether.

Marion merchants — along with those in Ashtabula, Circleville, Newark, Washington Court House, Mount Vernon, Mount Gilead, Van Wert, and other cities — apparently have resolved the situation at least until there is a change in the law.

In all these communities, some type of business operates on Sunday. Officials feel they provide "essential" services even though a few of them are discount stores and supermarkets offering their complete line.

Stock Mart Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed an irregular pattern early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Drugs and airlines relinquished their recent market leadership although American Airlines was strong, up about 2.

Drugs were a little higher at the start but settled back, most of them unchanged.

Airlines reflected some profit taking by traders. Eastern, a big gainer recently, fell more than a point. Pan American was a fractional loser.

The major steels and motors were slightly lower. Chemicals and electronics rose a little on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 330.5 with industrials up .3, rails up .5 and utilities up .8.

enjoy the benefits of modern knowledge."

"Here is our difference with the Communists — and our strength. They would use their skills to forge new chains of tyranny. We would use ours to free men from the bonds of the past," he said.

Against that background, Johnson said it is to America's own benefit to share part of her largesse with less affluent peoples overseas. Noting that, in his State of the Union message, he had called for a harmony between man and society, to enlarge the meaning of life and elevate the quality of civilization, he concluded:

"This summons is not — and cannot be — addressed to Americans alone. For our own security and well-being, as responsible free men, we must seek to share our capacity for growth, and the promise of a better life, with our fellow men around the world.

"That is what foreign aid is all about.

"We have pledged our strength — economic and military — in defense of those who would join in working toward a stable, prosperous world."

A large chunk of the economic aid in the new program — $580 million — is being earmarked for the Alliance for Progress program of assistance for Latin America.

This is $70 million above last year's appropriation, and Johnson said the amount is being increased because of "the way our good neighbors to the south are meeting the challenge of development."

"The alliance is taking hold. The war on poverty in Latin America is under way," he said.

On the other hand, he said, Nationalist China will no longer get help from the aid-administering Agency for International Development, because the country's economy has surged forward so well.

This winds up a 10-year program of large-scale U.S. assistance to the Nationalist government, headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Now, Johnson said, "Free China has joined other nations as a good cash customer for U.S. exports."

In general, Johnson said, an increasing amount — 85 percent in fiscal 1966 — of U.S. development loans in Asia and Africa will be committed under international arrangements, in which other countries are contributing.

Immigration Plan Studied

Guarded Optimism Voiced by Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sponsors of legislation recommended by President Johnson to revamp the nation's immigration law expressed guarded optimism today about making a breakthrough in the obstacle-ridden field.

Johnson's key proposal was to do away with an immigration quota system based on the national origins of the U.S. population in 1920. The system favors immigrants from Northern and Western Europe over those from other parts of the world.

In a special message Wednesday he urged Congress to abolish this system over a five-year period and allow admission of immigrants on the basis of needed work skills, family relationships and priority of registration.

Johnson's predecessors — John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman — tried without success to persuade Congress to eliminate or to overhaul the national-origins quota system.

Critics contend it discriminates against Italians, Greeks and other southeastern Europeans — to say nothing of Asians.

Whether Johnson will make any headway remains to be seen. But one Senate source said that he understands "the push is on this year."

In the last Congress, a virtually identical bill submitted by Kennedy was backed by Johnson but got nowhere.

A House Judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio, held hearings near the end of last year's session but took no action. Feighan is an outspoken foe of the legislation.

However, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he is optimistic about getting the measure before the House for a vote this year.

Dr. Schweitzer Honored On His 90th Birthday

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer's famous jungle hospital was thronged today as the man often called the world's greatest living missionary celebrated his 90th birthday.

Hundreds of well-wishers were still en route to the outpost three miles from Lambarene where Schweitzer has spent much of his life treating the sick of French Equatorial Africa.

The throng included black men, entire villages of grateful tribesmen, and white men, some 200 Europeans and a few Americans from outside Africa. They came by plane, river boat and on foot.

Schweitzer, who has helped more than 60,000 persons at the hospital he founded 40 years ago and won a Nobel peace prize, is stooped and burdened with age.

But the old man with the bushy white hair and the drooping mustache still had his familiar twinkle as he told visitors:

"I assure you I feel wonderful. I am grateful you could come."

A living legend because of his humanitarian work, Dr. Schweitzer is also one of the controversial figures of Africa. Despite criticism from some Africans, he has refused to tions — exempting services for travelers, operation of recreational facilities, entertainment, and state and county fairs, among others.

Since that time the pressures for further change have grown steadily, largely with the spread of big discount stores whose Sunday sales lure competitors into opening their doors.

Also a factor in the drive for a more liberal law has been the Lawson Milk Co., operator of a huge chain of dairy stores which obtained petitions for the ill-fated constitutional proposal in 1962.

Strict interpretation of the law bans the sale of everything not spelled out in the 1959 exemptions or those things which are not necessary for the "health, welfare, or safety" of the purchase.

This vague clause is the crux of the whole problem.

In what appears to be the latest real effort to enforce the law, eight persons were arrested in mid-November at Dover in Tuscarawas County.

One judge found three persons innocent and another judge found one defendant guilty. The conflicting verdicts resulted in indefinite postponement of all the cases.

Marion also was the scene of an attempted crackdown but officials there ran into trouble when a judge ruled it was legal for drug and variety stores to remain open.

The Marion Council of Churches conducted a citizens' poll which showed that only 321 of 2,236 persons replying were in favor of lifting the ban altogether.

Marion merchants — along with those in Ashtabula, Circleville, Newark, Washington Court House, Mount Vernon, Mount Gilead, Van Wert, and other cities — apparently have resolved the situation at least until there is a change in the law.

In all these communities, some type of business operates on Sunday. Officials feel they provide "essential" services even though a few of them are discount stores and supermarkets offering their complete line.

Driver-Ed Course Is Outlined

By ROD STAPLETON
Westfall

Driver's education is a course designed to improve a student's knowledge and skills of driving.

It is a one-semester course which includes a minimum of 18 hours discussion in the classroom and six hours driving time for each individual. While more time is spent driving them in the classroom, all items of importance are fully covered, such as laws and signs, proper methods of operation, good and bad driving habits, reactions in case of emergency, films, and current events, all of which make the student driver more aware of the dangers and responsibilities of driving.

Normally, a set routine is followed in driving practice. Along with the instructor, Paul Hoskins, one person drives while two others observe. A check sheet is kept on the driver by the students observing on which mistakes, merits, and comments are placed. The check sheet can then be discussed and the driver can be made aware of his faults. Their purpose is not to criticize, but to correct. All phases of driving, backing, starting, and stopping on a grade, as well as city driving, parallel parking and road driving are practiced and taught to be done properly.

One of the greatest assets of driver's education is that one can make his "learning mistakes" under supervision where they can't hurt anybody. In order for a student to complete and receive credit for driver's education he must acquire his driver's license.

Two Courses in Metals Are Offered at Westfall

By ASA ELSEA

In the curriculum of Westfall High School you can find two courses in metals shop. One is beginning metals, one - half semester offered to sophomores, and an advanced metal course offered during the junior or senior years, or both.

With the beginning of school this year the metal shop found itself somewhat behind, but as the year progressed, each area was finished and all areas are now in full swing.

The different areas found in the metal shop include the sheet metal area, dealing with skills in laying out sheet metal objects which could prepare a student to find his way into ventilating (heating and cooling) work; the foundry area, which is concerned with pouring molten metal into molds; the welding area, which is the fusion of two pieces of metal, usually of like composition, by the benefit of heat source, the machine area is where lathes and other machines are used to make projects within a tolerance of only a few thousandths of an inch; and the forging area, in which is found the heating of metal to a red hot state, after which it is pounded into a shape other than its original shape.

The metal shop courses have, like other courses, objectives. The goals stated in the beginning classes of metal working are to obtain the basic skills of all the equipment in each and every area of the shop, to understand the terminology of each area, and to be made to realize that in our society you must learn the essential basic skills before advancing to any greater level. In the advanced class, specialization takes place. A student is able to work in any area of shop which best fits his interest and aptitude.

She scored highest in a written homemaker examination taken by senior girls Dec. 1, and is now eligible for state and national honors.

Test papers of all school Homemakers of Tomorrow in the state are currently being judged. The state's highest ranking girl will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills Inc., sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, with the state runner-up to be awarded a $500 educational grant. In addition, the school of the State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Late this spring, the State Homemaker of Tomorrow, together with a school adviser, will join first-place winners and advisers from each of the 50 states and the District of Columbia in a tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D. C., and New York City. Climax of the weeklong tour will be the naming of the Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. To be chosen on the basis of the original test score and personal observation and interviews during the tour, she will receive an increase in her scholarship to $5,000. Second, third, and fourth place winners in the nation will have their grants raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

Two Courses in Metals Are Offered at Westfall

By ASA ELSEA

In the curriculum of Westfall High School you can find two courses in metals shop. One is beginning metals, one - half semester offered to sophomores, and an advanced metal course offered during the junior or senior years, or both.

With the beginning of school this year the metal shop found itself somewhat behind, but as the year progressed, each area was finished and all areas are now in full swing.

The different areas found in the metal shop include the sheet metal area, dealing with skills in laying out sheet metal objects which could prepare a student to find his way into ventilating (heating and cooling) work; the foundry area, which is concerned with pouring molten metal into molds; the welding area, which is the fusion of two pieces of metal, usually of like composition, by the benefit of heat source, the machine area is where lathes and other machines are used to make projects within a tolerance of only a few thousandths of an inch; and the forging area, in which is found the heating of metal to a red hot state, after which it is pounded into a shape other than its original shape.

The metal shop courses have, like other courses, objectives. The goals stated in the beginning classes of metal working are to obtain the basic skills of all the equipment in each and every area of the shop, to understand the terminology of each area, and to be made to realize that in our society you must learn the essential basic skills before advancing to any greater level. In the advanced class, specialization takes place. A student is able to work in any area of shop which best fits his interest and aptitude.

Class Rings Received at LE

By BARBARA JENKINS
The Logan Elm junior class received its class rings from the John Roberts Company on Dec. 16.

From 40 general styles of rings, six class officers had chosen three styles. Then the whole junior class decided which of the three styles to buy.

The student body voted on the LE crest for class rings two years ago and it will never change, although the ring style can change from year to year.

Only two persons have had to send their rings back to the company because they did not fit, but how many other juniors do not have their rings for another reason?

The first Monday of each month at 3:45 p. m. members assemble in the art room, and create to their heart's content. The club is open to all students and teachers, no talent necessary. There will be a 25 cent fee at each meeting for the art materials used.

Officers elected are: president, Diane Thomas; vice president, Darlene Adams; secretary-treasurer, Linda Minor.

The adviser, Mrs. Luna, comes up with some clever ideas for things for members to make. At the most recent meeting, members dipped pieces of string in plaster and let them dry in abstract shapes. Later, they filled in some of the holes with red cellophane, creating beautiful ornaments for Christmas.

Annual Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There was no lack of jollity at the 37th annual convention of the Grand United Order of Pal Bearers of America Inc.

The 8,000 - member all - Negro organization started as a burial association but now retains little of that nature except the name.

Treasurer Joseph Parris said the service club now devoted itself to providing scholarships and has a $100,000 fund raising project to build an old folks' home at Fort Pierce, Fla.

Lake Central Airlines Realignment Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agency providing the Civil Aeronautics Board with economic advice says that of all the 13 local service airline routes, those of Lake Central Airlines, Indianapolis, "perhaps most needs realignment."

The CAB's Bureau of Economic Regulations told Examiner Edward T. Stodola that many of Lake Central's routes are parallel or overlapping, or joined end-to-end at terminals with little relation to current operations or traffic flow.

This patchwork system is inflexible and has slowed the airline's response to the ebb and flow of traffic and decreased its ability to achieve operating economies, said bureau counsel Robert N. Miser and William J. Driscoll.

They urged that the Kokomo airport be established as the regional airport for Kokomo, Marion, Logansport and Peru, Ind., at an estimated subsidy saving of more than $34,000 a year.

The proposed elimination of Lake Central service at Portsmouth, and Lima, Ohio, on the north-south route; and the elimination of routes between Marion, Ind., and Cincinnati, between Kokomo and Marion on a Cincinnati service, and between Bloomington, Ind., and Indianapolis — although Lake Central wants to retain all these services.

The bureau said it and the airline agreed on the need for deletion of service at Columbus and Richmond, Ind., Jackson, Mich., and Findlay, Ohio, at Kokomo on the north-south route between Grand Rapids, Mich., and Cincinnati; and at Elkins, W. Va., on the route north to Pittsburgh.

The bureau and Lake Central also agreed that service should continue to Martinsburg, W. Va. to Elkins on the route between Washington, Charleston, W. Va.; and Cincinnati; to Kokomo and Marion, Ind. on the route between Chicago and Pittsburgh; and between Bloomington and Cincinnati.

The bureau said the proposed realignment would reduce Lake Central's need for subsidy by $400,000 a year.

It said the loss of Cincinnati

Biggest Tax Is Sales

CHICAGO (AP) — Sales tax still is the biggest tax levy for most states.

According to the Commerce Clearing House, sales tax accounted for one - fourth of the total 50 state tax take of $24.2 billion in the fiscal year ending June 1964.

Sales taxes produced the most revenue for 30 states. Income taxes proved the best revenue source in 13 states. Gasoline taxes led in six states. Several tax, a tax on severing natural resources from the ground, was at the top in Louisiana.

California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio collected most of their revenue from sales taxes. New York relied most on its income tax. Texas depended on its gasoline tax for most of its revenue.

Driver-Ed Course Is Outlined

By ROD STAPLETON

Westfall
Driver's education is a course designed to improve a student's knowledge and skills of driving.

It is a one - semester course which includes a minimum of 18 hours discussion in the classroom and six hours driving time for each individual. While more time is spent driving them in the classroom, all items of importance are fully covered, such as laws and signs, proper methods of operation, good and bad driving habits, reactions in case of emergency, films, and current events, all of which make the student driver more aware of the dangers and responsibilities of driving.

Normally, a set routine is followed in driving practice. Along with the instructor, Paul Hoskins, one person drives while two others observe. A check sheet is kept on the driver by the students observing on which mistakes, merits, and comments are placed. The check sheet can then be discussed and the driver can be made aware of his faults. Their purpose is not to criticize, but to correct. All phases of driving, backing, starting, and stopping on a grade, as well as city driving, parallel parking and road driving are practiced and taught to be done properly.

One of the greatest assets of driver's education is that one can make his "learning mistakes" under supervision where they can't hurt anybody. In order for a student to complete and receive credit for driver's education he must acquire his driver's license.

Can You Remember When —

NEW YORK (AP) — Only memories can keep you young. Your face may get as wrinkled as a contour map of the Rocky Mountains. Age may snow white hairs on you. Time may slow you from a hop, skip and a jump to a tired crawl. But all that is only on the outside. Inside you, the serene eye of memory enables you to look back and see yourself at any age you choose to be. At your own wish you can be a child again, an adolescent, a young lover, a warrior for your country, a young man on his first job. The past never dies, because all of us spend at least part of every day of our lives reliving it. Your own past may be longer than you'd care to brag about if you can remember when — The neighbors always brought food to your house when someone in it was ill or had died. Fatty Arbuckle, the $500,000 comedian, was making $5,000 a week in Hollywood before scandal clouded his name and fame. More people used tooth powder than toothpaste. A juvenile delinquent was a boy under 17 who went behind the barn and smoked cigarettes made of dry cornsilk rolled in paper torn from a mail order catalog. A father felt kind of crestfallen if his wife gave birth to a baby weighing less than eight pounds. The bigger the baby, the healthier it was supposed to be. Everybody was expected to run away from home at least once before he got out of high school. Few folks were afraid of a hobo if he knocked on the back door and asked for something to eat. But he usually had to chop some kindling or beat a rug before he got fed. Nine out of 10 men carried toothpicks and a change purse in their pockets. The $2 bill was common. You knew a widow was through with mourning and looking for a new husband when she started using henna on her hair. A radical was anyone who announced openly that he believed in the theory of evolution. No woman felt her role in this world was complete unless she fainted in public at least once in her lifetime. A well-bred lady always wore black stockings when she went swimming.

Lard was used as a food, an ointment for chest colds, and a hair pomade. The motto of business was, "The customer is always right."

Voluntary Road to Welfare

By John Chamberlain

Talking about the "Great Society," President Johnson tossed a single bone to the believers in a decentralized order of things; he said his Utopia would "not be the gift of Government or the creation of Presidents. Then he went on, rather remorselessly, with his enumeration of the things, costing billions, which the federal government would nonetheless be called upon to provide.

This column would not quarrel with the President's eye for unfulfilled human needs. Vast stretches of our cities are ugly. Commuter services in most places are worse than they were forty years ago. Fish are dying in the rivers, and if you eat shellfish from certain coastal waters the effect on the stomach is unpredictable. The schooling in some slum areas is incredibly bad, and if you bus the kids out of those places to more affluent schools they aren't likely to get language instruction that is much better.

Now, if it is true that local communities and individuals can't solve our manifold problems, then there is no argument against the Lyndon Johnson demands for federal feed-back for tackling what must be done. But the danger that lurks in uncritical acceptance of the idea of a federally-endowed Great Society is that it will discourage a thousand - and one hopeful grassroots efforts that are now being made.

While Lyndon Johnson was preparing his blueprints for federal underwritten social change, a new organization, the American Conservative Union, was being set up in Washington, with ex - Congressman Donald Bruce of Indiana as its head. The first reports about the aims and personnel of this union, written by keyhole listeners whose commendable energy did not include a will to accuracy, went into the usual song-and-dance about "ultra-Rightists." But what impressed me about the group was its flexibility and catholicity about ways and means of combatting the drift to Big Government. One of the moving spirits at the first ACU meeting was Richard Cornuelle of San Mateo, California. What Dick Cornuelle had come to the meeting to sell was the idea that one way to affect politics is to solve great social questions quite outside of the sphere of politics. He fascinated some of the ACU organizers with his tales of his own missionary work for the volunteer approach. One of his success stories involving his creation of something called United Student Aid Funds, Inc., is of particular interest now that the President is stressing a demand for more and better federal aid to college students.

The United Student Aid Funds idea came out of Cornuelle's conversation with banker friends who said they would be glad to make college loans to promising but needy students provided they could get some security for their outlays. An activist who had once worked for the Volker Foundation (now out of existence), Cornuelle immediately plunged into the business of setting up a reinsurance corporation to endorse banker loans to qualified 'college material.' What the government contributed to the venture was tax exemption for United Student Aid Funds, Inc.; otherwise, the insurance money came from private sources.

Within four years of its founding, Mr. Cornuelle's organization had reinsured more than $35 million in student loans from five thousand separate banks. This has enabled fifty thousand students to go to some seven

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

My son did not pass his Army physical because of unusually high blood pressure. The very next day our family doctor examined him and found his blood pressure normal. He went back to the Army doctors for a second examination, and again his blood pressure was very high. He is a strong, healthy football player and very upset about failing the Army physical. We, too, are worried about the high blood pressure. What could be the reason for his blood pressure being so high one day and normal the next day?

Mr. F.B. Florida

Dear Mr. B.: It is not unusual for the blood pressure to rise temporarily during periods of tension and emotional stress. Extreme nervousness or anxiety during a physical examination can frequently cause wide fluctuations in blood pressure readings.

This kind of temporary high blood pressure is called "labile hypertension." In essence, it refers to momentary changes in blood pressure levels without any apparent physical reason for these changes.

Almost everyone has felt a "pounding of the heart" and a quickening of the heart beat during a moment of great excitement or stress. This, too, is a reaction to psychological tensions, the same as a tempo-

Recently enthusiasm has developed for a simple remedy. Cultures of lactobacillus acidophilus, sold under a variety of trade names with a doctor's prescription, are being used for the prevention and relief of these distressing sores. Along with good diet and plenty of rest, this new medication may be effective, and certainly worth a try.

Can You Remember When —

NEW YORK (AP) — Only memories can keep you young.

Your face may get as wrinkled as a contour map of the Rocky Mountains. Age may snow white hairs on you. Time may slow you from a hop, skip and a jump to a tired crawl.

But all that is only on the outside. Inside you, the serene eye of memory enables you to look back and see yourself at any age you choose to be. At your own wish you can be a child again, an adolescent, a young lover, a warrior for your country, a young man on his first job.

The past never dies, because all of us spend at least part of every day of our lives reliving it.

Your own past may be longer than you'd care to brag about if you can remember when—

The neighbors always brought food to your house when someone in it was ill or had died.

Everybody was expected to run away from home, at least once before he got out of high school.

Nine out of 10 men carried toothpicks and a change purse in their pockets.

The $2 bill was common. You knew a widow was through with mourning and looking for a new husband when she started using henna on her hair.

No woman felt her role in this world was complete unless she fainted in public at least once in her lifetime.

A well-bred lady always wore black stockings when she went swimming.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, like President Kennedy, has supported the separation - of-church-and - state tradition, but this week in his education program he proposed giving parochial schools some federal aid.

But he did this because of a rising tide of help to education in Congress, and did it in such a way that he may run into less storm than Roman Catholic Kennedy, who opposed such aid to Catholic schools.

Nothing he has done so far as president better shows Johnson's special technique of trying to cool off possible antagonists in order to make some progress, even if it isn't all he might like to have.

Kennedy made dismal progress in his first two years in trying to get Congress to approve a general aid to education bill, with particular emphasis on help for public grade and high schools.

Congress had never passed a law providing such general aid. In 1961 and 1962 Kennedy emphasized he was not asking aid for parochial schools. Both times he said he considered such aid unconstitutional.

And both times he ran into opposition from the Catholic hierarchy which thought such aid should be given.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, expressed it this way:

Passage of Kennedy's program would be the "eventual end of our parochial schools because we cannot compete with the federal government's support and subsidy of the public schools only." He said the program also would put an additional burden on Catholic taxpayers who got no benefit from it.

The opposition to aid for Catholic schools was equally determined. Under this combined pressure Congress did practically nothing for two years. The dam began to break in 1963.

Once more Kennedy proposed no help to church schools. Once more there was Catholic opposition. But by now Congress had begun to yield under a third pressure: Rising educational needs.

In 1963 it passed such a number of important measures that Johnson, after Kennedy's death late in the year, said the Congress of 1963 would be known as the education Congress.

These were some of the steps taken:

Help for college construction; increased funds for vocational education; a boost in college student loan funds; grants to help build new medical schools.

Nevertheless, not even that Congress touched the sizzling question of general aid for public grade and high schools, when the religious issue was most intense. And in 1964 Congress ducked this one again.

But the measures passed last year under Johnson's prodding were unprecedented in scope and number. Still, Johnson, like Congress, stayed away from the church-state issue as much as he could.

During the 1964 presidential campaign, Johnson was asked by Dr. E. S. James, editor of the Baptist Standard, for his views on federal aid to education, particularly to parochial schools.

Johnson affirmed his support of the "American tradition of separation of church and state."

expressed in the First Amendment." And he closed his answer with this:

"Therefore, I would oppose any federal program — including assistance to schools — which does not strictly conform to this constitutional requirement."

Then last Tuesday, Johnson proposed the biggest-ever aid to education program, with accent on children of the poor.

It would provide modest sums to be spent on buying non-religious textbooks for private and parochial school students and some for educational centers to be shared by public and church schools.

But before he ever sent this program to Congress, Johnson's aides had contacted Catholics and those on the other side of the church-state issue. It was learned more of the Catholic clergy are for the program than oppose it. Catholic members of Congress divide the same way. Some of the opponents are still opposed, some not so opposed.

Ohio Sculptor Says Cigar, Churchill Are Inseparable

CLEVELAND (AP) — The man commissioned to create a statue of Winston Churchill says "Sir Winston and his cigar are inseparable."

Nevertheless, William McVey is thinking about sculpturing Sir Winston without a cigar.

McVey is the mild-mannered sculptor whose proposed statue of the famed British leader generated a lot of smoke because it depicted Sir Winston with a stogie in hand.

Lacking in dignity, said some members of the English Speaking Union, which commissioned McVey to create a nine-foot-high bronze of Sir Winston for the British Embassy in Washington.

Nonsense, replied backers of the Churchillian cigar. "What might have happened to the world," asked the Boston Traveler editorially, "if some meddler had denied Winston his cigars back in 1940?"

That was when Churchill, as prime minister, became famed for his "V for Victory" salute—and his cigar—during the Battle for Britain in the early days of World War II.

McVey, who is completing a 1,800-pound clay model for the statue at his studio in suburban Pepper Pike, is willing to remove the cigar, if the English Speaking Union insists.

But his feelings are clearly against it.

"Sir Winston and his cigar are inseparable," said McVey.

But that is only one reason he put the stogie in the left hand, which rests atop a walking stick.

"I conceived it as a series of 'V's," McVey said. "The cigar completes a 'V' on the same scale as that of the upraised fingers."

The statue has Churchill's right hand raised in the "V for Victory" salute.

The English Speaking Union has put the question to its 80 branches around the country. Sentiment from the first few responses, the union said, is running 90 per cent or more in favor of the stogie.

McVey granted that a cigar may not be the most aesthetic subject for sculpture.

But Sir Winston without a stogie?

McVey shook his head pensively and said:

"I don't know how you could do it."

Help for college construction; increased funds for vocational education; a boost in college student loan funds; grants to help build new medical schools.

Nevertheless, not even that Congress touched the sizzling question of general aid for public grade and high schools, when the religious issue was most intense. And in 1964 Congress ducked this one again.

But the measures passed last year under Johnson's prodding were unprecedented in scope and number. Still, Johnson, like Congress, stayed away from the church-state issue as much as he could.

During the 1964 presidential campaign, Johnson was asked by Dr. E. S. James, editor of the Baptist Standard, for his views on federal aid to education, particularly to parochial schools.

Johnson affirmed his support of the "American tradition of separation of church and state."

expressed in the First Amendment." And he closed his answer with this:

"Therefore, I would oppose any federal program — including assistance to schools — which does not strictly conform to this constitutional requirement."

Then last Tuesday, Johnson proposed the biggest-ever aid to education program, with accent on children of the poor.

It would provide modest sums to be spent on buying non-religious textbooks for private and parochial school students and some for educational centers to be shared by public and church schools.

But before he ever sent this program to Congress, Johnson's aides had contacted Catholics and those on the other side of the church-state issue.

It was learned more of the Catholic clergy are for the program than oppose it. Catholic members of Congress divide the same way. Some of the opponents are still opposed, some not so opposed.

Dear Abby:

Technically Speaking!

DEAR ABBY: I know that, technically, my sister's husband is my brother-in-law, but does that make him my husband's brother-in-law, too? Also, my husband has three married sisters. I know that their husbands are my husband's brothers-in-law, but what are they, technically speaking that is, to me? And while I'm asking, are my aunts and uncles my husband's aunts and uncles, too? And how about cousins?

JUST TECHNICAL
DEAR TECHNICAL: Technically, your sister's husband is your brother-in-law, not your husband's. And neither are your husband's brothers-in-law yours. Your aunts, uncles and cousins are not your husband's, technically. Nor are his yours. But (and this is a very big "but") in most healthy marriages, both husband and wife "take on" the relatives of their spouses as their own. And don't get too "technical" or you might give the impression that you are trying to disclaim relationship to your husband's relatives.

DEAR ABBY: I was unemployed when I met my wife, but she said she'd marry me anyway and she would work until I found a job I could handle

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. George Fissell, 705 N. Pickaway St., have returned from a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harden, and their grandchildren, Ned and Mary Ann, of Fullerton, Calif. They all enjoyed the holiday by flying to Honolulu, Hawaii. The Fissells spent the rest of their three-week vacation in California.

Mrs. Otis Runyon, Route 1 displayed several of her paintings and discussed various techniques when she appeared Monday on a Chillicothe TV program. She will present another demonstration at a later date.

with my bum back. We've been married 11 years, and I'll admit I haven't worked much, but it's because of my back. I've been to all kinds of doctors and not one of them has been able to help me, so they say it is all in my head and I am just lazy. I am NOT lazy and it is NOT all in my head. When I wake up in the morning my back feels like a locomotive ran over it. Now my wife refuses to give me any money. Can I sue for non-support?

BAD BACK
DEAR BAD BACK: A lawyer can tell you whether you can sue. It sounds to me like a case of not enough backbone and too much wishbone.

DEAR ABBY: You told the girl whose "wonderful" fiancé insisted on driving 90 and 100 miles an hour that you hoped she looked good in black. I liked your answer. I also had a "wonderful" fiancé who loved to speed. I knew it when I became engaged to him, but loved him too much to break off with him.

One night he was doing 85 on wet pavement and we skidded into a pole. My right leg was so badly mangled it had to be amputated near the hip. I was later fitted with an artificial limb, but I must use crutches, too.

After I lost my leg, my fiancé lost interest in me. He broke our engagement and married a girl with two legs. I have a good job, live in a nice apartment, but I don't have much fun. If it's true that "men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses," it is true that men rarely make clutches for girls who use crutches. While girls in love seldom listen to advice, my experience might help some girl break with a speed demon before she spends the rest of her life regretting it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FED UP," whose husband knocked her down a flight of stairs, tried to choke her and caused her to have four miscarriages because of his brutal beatings: If you spend another night with this animal, you are out of your mind. Pork, and perhaps some veal cuts, may carry bargain price tags at some food markets across the nation this weekend.

Warehouse supplies of pork have been far above average recently and veal production is up nearly a fifth, compared with last year at this time.

Eggs continue to be a good buy in many markets. Wholesale prices were down on the West Coast and a big supermarket chain at its New York City area outlets is continuing the price cuts it put into effect last week.

Pork loins and the ribs are the supermarket chain's special this week, with prices ranging from 33 cents a pound to 53 for various cuts. Pork chops are also down 20 cents to 79 a pound at the chain's meat counters.

Wholesale coffee prices have been dropping and housewives may find lower prices on some brands shortly.

Cabbage, carrots, apples and citrus fruits are reported to be in especially abundant supply at the produce counters. Generally, however, fresh vegetable supplies will be at their usual winter seasonal low.

Passers-by Refuse Aid To Officer

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit policeman — shunned by passers-by who "didn't want to get involved" — won a two-minute struggle Tuesday with a youth dangling 20 feet over a freeway bridge railing during rush hour traffic.

The youth, Gilbert Herrera of Detroit, tried to break patrolman Norman Rau's hold with a jagged bottle. Rau finally managed to secure Herrera with the help of an unidentified bread truck driver and two fellow officers. Herrera declined to say why he planned to jump off the bridge. He was held for questioning.

Rau said "two men came walking over the bridge, and I asked them to help. One of them said, 'I don't want to get involved,' and they kept on going."

Rau suffered a possible broken rib during the struggle and was admitted to a hospital for observation.

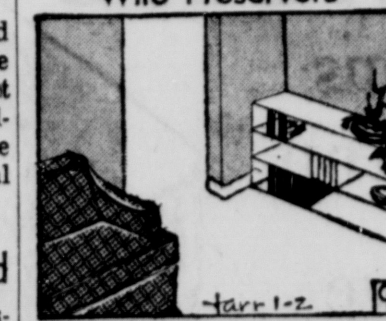

"I think I got kicked in the stomach," he said. "But I guess I'm lucky at that. I wish I knew the name of that bread truck driver so I could thank him."

Circle No. 3 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Nellie Palm and Mrs. Irene Jenkins, 152 E. High St.

Mrs. C. O. Schweizer, co-chairman, opened the meeting reading "A Resolve for the New Year". She also asked that anyone interested in quilting contact Mrs. Daniel Eitel or Mrs. Elsie Chester.

Mrs. Eitel was in charge of devotionals using a New Year's theme.

Mrs. W. A. Cox used as her program title: "How Great is Our Heritage". She spoke of the great privilege and opportunity in religion enjoyed in the United States. She contrasted this with the restrictions imposed on the people of Spain as she had witnessed it during the years she and her family lived there. She closed with the statement, "Are we grateful enough for our privileges, do we use our opportunities?"

Passers-by Refuse Aid To Officer

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit policeman — shunned by passers-by who "didn't want to get involved" — won a two-minute struggle Tuesday with a youth dragging 20 feet over a freeway bridge railing during rush hour traffic.

The youth, Gilbert Herrera of Detroit, tried to break patrolman Norman Rau's hold with a jagged bottle. Rau finally managed to secure Herrera with the help of an unidentified bread truck driver and two fellow officers. Herrera declined to say why he planned to jump off the bridge. He was held for questioning.

Rau said "two men came walking over the bridge, and I asked them to help. One of them said, 'I don't want to get involved,' and they kept on going."

Rau suffered a possible broken rib during the struggle and was admitted to a hospital for observation.

"I think I got kicked in the stomach," he said. "But I guess I'm lucky at that. I wish I knew the name of that bread truck driver so I could thank him."

Guild 44 To Meet

Members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 44 will meet 8 p.m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Kent Carpenter, 613 Plaza Drive.

19 Members Attend WSCS Circle 3 Meet

Circle No. 3 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Nellie Palm and Mrs. Irene Jenkins, 152 E. High St.

Mrs. C. O. Schweizer, co-chairman, opened the meeting reading "A Resolve for the New Year". She announced that a tour of several Methodist-sponsored facilities in the Columbus area is being arranged for May 14. She also asked that anyone interested in quilting contact Mrs. Daniel Eitel or Mrs. Elsie Chester.

Mrs. Eitel was in charge of devotionals using a New Year's theme.

Mrs. W. A. Cox used as her program title: "How Great is Our Heritage". She spoke of the great privilege and opportunity in religion enjoyed in the United States. She contrasted this with the restrictions imposed on the people of Spain as she had witnessed it during the years she and her family lived there. She closed with the statement, "Are we grateful enough for our privileges, do we use our opportunities?"

Refreshments were served to 19 members and one guest, Mrs. Marvin Burget, Mrs. Sam Elsea and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman were co-hostesses.

Civic Club Program Presented by Guest

Mrs. Emma Lou Hartlage, Home Economics Extension Agent, presented the topic "Accessories for You" when the Ashville Women's Civic Club met last week in the home of Mrs. John R. Downs, Georgia Road.

Mrs. James Irwin, president, presided during the business session. Mrs. Thomas Purcell conducted roll call and each member responded by naming a place they had visited during the past year.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Donald Flierl.

Green cabbage (shredded) tastes especially good when it is pan-cooked with a little butter and water.

For a pleasant dessert after a main course of Chinese - style food, serve chilled canned pineapple enlivened with slivers of preserved ginger.

(Continued from Page 1) to between 28,000 and 34,000 main force troops with around 80,000 regional guerrillas. Now the total armed strength of the Viet Cong is thought to be around 150,000 or even higher.

Furthermore, these enemy troops are far better armed and trained now. In 1964, the Viet Cong captured about 13,700 weapons from government forces, losing only 4,900 of their own. Captured weapons were supplemented by arms smuggled from the Communist bloc into South Viet Nam.

All this has happened despite current official Vietnamese and American statistics that 59,000 Viet Cong were killed between 1962 and 1964. Top U.S. officers concede that this figure is too high.

Nonetheless, the Viet Cong keeps getting stronger. These are some of the symptoms of growing strength.

Roads and communication canals that were always open have been closed down by the Viet Cong. Today, the one national railroad line is closed at various points every day, and there is scarcely a road or canal in the country that is freely passable without mounting a clearing operation.

Within 20 miles of Saigon, Viet Cong toll booths are operating on roads only a mile or so from government checkpoints. These toll points issue printed receipts to Vietnamese travelers as they leave the Communist zone, so they will not have to pay a second time when they return.

Each time the government has taken on some new program to clear the countryside, such as "Operation Sunrise," the strategic hamlet, plan or the pacification plan, it has discovered it has bitten off more than it could chew. The current top priority plan, called "hop tac"—cooperation—is little more than trying to set up a kind of defense perimeter around Saigon itself, with the hope that it can be expanded outward.

During this time, the Viet Cong has virtually completed a "ring of steel" around Saigon, with some of its armed agitation and propaganda teams working nearly every night in communities a few hundred yards across the river from Saigon's Majestic Hotel.

A year ago, the Viet Cong rarely stood to fight a government battalion of 400 men and then, generally, only after being forced into a corner. At Binh Gia, 40 miles from Saigon, the Viet Cong took on the equivalent of a regiment of 2,000 men, the cream of Viet Nam's troops, and won a resounding victory.

On paper, South Viet Nam has around 615,000 men under arms, counting the various paramilitary forces and the police. In fact the government units supposed to spearhead major actions against the Viet Cong—the rangers, the airborne brigade and the marines—all are below strength. Some of their battalions have been bled white by casualties and slow replacements, and actually have as little as a third of their authorized strength.

With each modest step forward by various Saigon governments in the past 15 months, something has forced at least one step backward. During the heat of the Binh Gia fighting, virtually all South Viet Nam's general staff was 20 miles away at the seaside resort of Cap St. Jacques, talking politics.

Even junior Vietnamese officers on the fighting line are talking openly about their pessimism, something they would not have done a year ago. There is a feeling sensed on all sides in many ways here that time is running out on the Viet Nam war.

Police Functions in 1964 Cover Wide Range of Cases

A total of 2,644 persons were processed through the Circleville Police Department for various reasons during 1964.

This and other information was listed on an annual report submitted this week by Police Chief Robert Temple. The rundown on yearly departmental activities was compiled by Patrolman William Goff who serves as desk officer on the day shift.

Patrolman Goff's report showed 15 of 18 assault cases cleared by arrest. The other three were unfounded reports. Burglaries were listed at 56, with 15 of them cleared by arrest and 3 unfounded. Thirty of them were forced entry, 11 unlawful entry with no force used and 12 were attempts.

Of 158 larceny cases 23 were cleared by arrest. The total included everything reported stolen regardless of value. In many cases the articles were found or returned, with no formal charges filed.

The department investigated Collects Toads WASHINGTON (AP) — Susan Armstrong, has already learned to make her vacations count. She spent much of her vacation time last summer collecting horned toads when she visited her grandparents in San Antonio, Texas. She took the toads back to Washington with her and earned a $15 gift certificate in an unusual pet show.

369 vehicle accidents during the year, an increase of nine over 1963, with three deaths resulting. Two of the fatalities were young bicycle riders.

ACCIDENTS resulting in injuries to various degrees numbered 63. Property damage was reported in 303. A total of 81 persons in the cars were hurt and 13 pedestrians and three bike riders were injured.

Saturday proved to be the worst day for accidents, with 62 listed. The most prevalent hour for collisions was from noon to 1 p. m., with 32 coming at this time.

Drivers in the age grouping of 25 to 34 were involved in the most accidents. The number was 113. The 20 to 24 group listed 98 and 35 to 44 showed 91.

Of all drivers involved in accidents, 458 were male. The tally showed 127 female drivers involved in collisions.

Damage resulted to 546 passenger cars, 28 trucks, 4 tractor-trailer assemblies, 7 other truck combinations, 4 taxi cabs, 1 bus 2 motorcycles, 7 bicycles and 6 emergency vehicles.

A total of 440 complaints were investigated for the year. Numerous others, such as trash fires, parked vehicles and domestic calls were handled, with no official report made.

REPORTS on lost articles numbered 73. Listed were 27 billfolds, 32 auto and truck license plates, two wrist watches and 12 miscellaneous items such as keys and glasses.

The department's two marked patrol cars traveled 85,547 miles for the year. This is an increase of 6,853 miles over 1963.

There were 757 meals served to prisoners lodged in the City Jail.

Total money handled through the department amounted to $58,623.25. The money, turned over to Municipal Court, constitutes funds for waiver cases, bonds for appearances in court and parking violations.

Cost of Government Shows Sharp Increase in 50 Years

The cost of government constantly increases — on the local as well as the national level.

This year's budget approved by Circleville City Council, was $578,381.65, an increase of $32,096.15 over last year's appropriations.

Back in 1905, the entire budget

was $46,097.38. Karl Herrmann, 118 N. Washington St., turned up a pamphlet he had at his house which was the fourth annual report of the city auditor of the City of Circleville. Although the report was for the year 1906, it listed a financial report for several previous years.

G. R. Haswell was city mayor then. George R. Curl was president of the council.

THE AUDITOR who made the report was Fred R. Nicholas. Members of council were Curl, A. L. Redman, Nicholas, who was the clerk; T. R. Bell, A. L. Redman, John W. Lowe, G. W. Limebaugh, John C. Goeller, C. E. Salter and John F. Carle.

The chief of police was H. S. Sheets who received a salary of $660 per year. Regular policemen at that time received an annual salary of $600 per year. The fire chief, J. M. Baer, received a salary of $720.

One of the major additions to the fire department in 1906 was the purchase of a team of horses to pull equipment. Cary Short sold the team to the city for $300.

The police department spent $4,718.19 for the year of 1906. The total expenditures for the fire department was $4,424.14.

Appropriation for 1965 for police department operations are $76,650. Funds for fire department functions are $50,000.

Enrollment Open At College Branch

January has been designated as enrollment month at the Lancaster Branch of Ohio University.

New students who are high school graduates, but have not attended college at any other university, may enroll since the branch college makes provision for beginners the second semester. However, the second semester schedule does not provide as wide a choice as the first semester.

High school students deficient in plane geometry may make up this subject during the second semester. The subject carries high school credit only.

Most campus programs no longer provide for the opportunity for students to make up high school deficiencies.

Students who have enrolled in other schools may transfer to the Lancaster OU Branch if they have a 2.25 point average.

Roads and communication canals that were always open have been closed down by the Viet Cong. Today, the one national railroad line is closed at various points every day, and there is scarcely a road or canal in the country that is freely passable without mounting a clearing operation.

Within 20 miles of Saigon, Viet Cong toll booths are operating on roads only a mile or so from government checkpoints. These toll points issue printed receipts to Vietnamese travelers as they leave the Communist zone, so they will not have to pay a second time when they return.

Each time the government has taken on some new program to clear the countryside, such as "Operation Sunrise," the strategic hamlet, plan or the pacification plan, it has discovered it has bitten off more than it could chew. The current top priority plan, called "hop tac"—cooperation—is little more than trying to set up a kind of defense perimeter around Saigon itself, with the hope that it can be expanded outward.

During this time, the Viet Cong has virtually completed a "ring of steel" around Saigon, with some of its armed agitation and propaganda teams working nearly every night in communities a few hundred yards across the river from Saigon's Majestic Hotel.

A year ago, the Viet Cong rarely stood to fight a government battalion of 400 men and then, generally, only after being forced into a corner. At Binh Gia, 40 miles from Saigon, the Viet Cong took on the equivalent of a regiment of 2,000 men, the cream of Viet Nam's troops, and won a resounding victory.

On paper, South Viet Nam has around 615,000 men under arms, counting the various paramilitary forces and the police. In fact the government units supposed to spearhead major actions against the Viet Cong—the rangers, the airborne brigade and the marines—all are below strength. Some of their battalions have been bled white by casualties and slow replacements, and actually have as little as a third of their authorized strength.

With each modest step forward by various Saigon governments in the past 15 months, something has forced at least one step backward.

During the heat of the Binh Gia fighting, virtually all South Viet Nam's general staff was 20 miles away at the seaside resort of Cap St. Jacques, talking politics.

Even junior Vietnamese officers on the fighting line are talking openly about their pessimism, something they would not have done a year ago.

There is a feeling sensed on all sides in many ways here that time is running out on the Viet Nam war.

Cost of Government Shows Sharp Increase in 50 Years

The cost of government constantly increases — on the local as well as the national level.

This year's budget approved by Circleville City Council, was $578,381.65, an increase of $32,096.15 over last year's appropriations.

Back in 1905, the entire budget

was $46,097.38. Karl Herrmann, 118 N. Washington St., turned up a pamphlet he had at his house which was the fourth annual report of the city auditor of the City of Circleville. Although the report was for the year 1906, it listed a financial report for several previous years.

G. R. Haswell was city mayor then. George R. Curl was president of the council.

THE AUDITOR who made the report was Fred R. Nicholas. Members of council were Curl, A. L. Redman, Nicholas, who was the clerk; T. R. Bell, A. L. Redman, John W. Lowe, G. W. Limebaugh, John C. Goeller, C. E. Salter and John F. Carle.

The chief of police was H. S. Sheets who received a salary of $660 per year. Regular policemen at that time received an annual salary of $600 per year. The fire chief, J. M. Baer, received a salary of $720.

One of the major additions to the fire department in 1906 was the purchase of a team of horses to pull equipment. Cary Short sold the team to the city for $300.

The police department spent $4,718.19 for the year of 1906. The total expenditures for the fire department was $4,424.14.

Appropriation for 1965 for police department operations are $76,650. Funds for fire department functions are $50,000.

Enrollment Open At College Branch

January has been designated as enrollment month at the Lancaster Branch of Ohio University.

New students who are high school graduates, but have not attended college at any other university, may enroll since the branch college makes provision for beginners the second semester. However, the second semester schedule does not provide as wide a choice as the first semester.

High school students deficient in plane geometry may make up this subject during the second semester. The subject carries high school credit only.

Most campus programs no longer provide for the opportunity for students to make up high school deficiencies.

Students who have enrolled in other schools may transfer to the Lancaster OU Branch if they have a 2.25 point average.

Film Industry Readies New Major Epics

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The American film industry, riding the crest of renewed prosperity, has invested $150 million in 15 movies with hopes of continuing the boom.

"Think big" has been the key note of recent industry practice, the theory being that big pictures can mean big profits while small pictures seldom do. The system can bring near-disaster, as in the cases of "Cleopatra" and "Mutiny on the Bounty."

But epics like "Ben-Hur" and "The 10 Commandments" can buoy a company's fortunes for a year or longer. Nearly all of the major studios invested last year in large-scale films which will soon be testing their value.

Some are the road-show or hard-ticket attraction, which means they will be exhibited on a reserved-seat, advanced-price basis. Others will go into general release. All represents multi-million-dollar gambles.

Twentieth Century-Fox is the most bullish on the road-show films and will release three in 1965. They are:

"The Sound of Music," the final Rodgers and Hammerstein collaboration, starring Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer. Estimate: $8 million.

"The Agony and the Ecstasy," the Sistine Chapel portion of Irving Stone's book on Michelangelo, with Charlton Heston and Rex Harrison. Estimate: $8 million.

"Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," an early-day air epic with an international cast. Estimate: $7 million.

Biggest of the new epics is George Stevens' long-awaited "The Greatest Story Ever Told." He has steadfastly refused to reveal its cost, and United Artists also has been secretive about it. Trade observers place the eventual bill close to $20 million. The film premieres in Cinerama next month.

Washingtonians Wonder What To Wear for Big Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — What to wear to President Johnson's inauguration?

Well, the experts are suggesting earmuffs, leotards, high boots, black tie and the prettiest long formal gown you can find.

Johnson has set a less formal tone for male inaugural fashions, but the swirl of feminine finery will be as splendid as ever.

There wasn't really a moment's hesitation among the fashion pacesetters of Washington, including the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The biggest inaugural fashion problem of all is — the weather!

Remembering the freezing snows of 1961, everyone wants to be prepared. But, for what? The Weather Bureau, looking into its record closet, says Jan. 20 temperatures in the capital have ranged as high as 71 in 1951, and as low as 8 degrees in 1940.

All this led the parade co-chairman, Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, to suggest the thousands of marchers, riders and watchers get prepared the way her Minnesota homesteaders do for fashionable winter carnivals. "You can be warm as well as attractive in a parade," she maintains.

Many a drum majorette has looked lovely in flesh-colored leotards with long sleeves and float queens can look as regal and alluring in long velvet, fur-trimmed robes as they do in strapless evening gowns, for example.

Mrs. Freeman, wife of the secretary of agriculture, says the first thing she bought was high boots "and I strongly recommend everyone coming to the inaugural have them." Incidentally, high boots for ladies happen to be very fashionable.

Her next suggestion — and she's following it herself — fur earmuffs, or headbands.

And, for parade watchers, "Nothing could be more appropriate or more comfortable than ski pants or parkas with hoods."

President Johnson, of course, has announced he'll take his oath of office wearing an oxford gray suit instead of the traditional morning coat and striped pants. He hasn't decided yet whether he'll wear a hat.

More than 3,000 Texans are expected for the inaugural festivities. While undoubtedly adding a dash of homestate cowboy attire themselves, they have hopes that LBJ will get out his 10-gallon hat sometime, too.

The President's mail reflects both applause and disappointment for his decision to be informal and also to wear black tie which he considers more comfortable than white tie and tails for the inaugural balls.

Though the inaugural ball chairman, Warren Woodward, noted it wouldn't be very chic to upstage the President, it turns out there are some die-hards who have rented white tie anyway, refusing as they put it "to dress down."

The ladies never had any intention of dressing down. And, Perle Mesta, widely known Washington hostess who got the role of "social consultant to the chairman of the inaugural committee," made this what-to-wear pronouncement: "Inaugural ball: Long formal dresses."

The White House has decreed nothing will be released until Jan. 17 concerning Mrs. Johnson's inaugural wardrobe.

This secrecy posed a problem for those who don't want to turn up wearing the same color dress as the First Lady.

Fortunately, the word has leaked out in the fashion world that Mrs. Johnson's ball gown, being designed by John Moore of New York, will be yellow, for the famous rose of her Texas home state.

Now, as far as can be ascertained, Cabinet wives, inaugural officials and those likely to be in presidential proximity, are shunning yellow.

Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, silver-haired wife of the vice president-elect, is tied to the White House protocol-strings and her wardrobe will be announced with the First Lady's.

Though she usually makes her own clothes and is making one for the inaugural ceremony, Mrs. Humphrey wasn't taking any chances with the gown for the historic 1965 inaugural balls. She confided at a recent news conference that it is being designed by Count Sarmi. Aside from being famous in the fashion field, a standout in ball gown design, a real Italian count, now a U.S. citizen, Mrs. Humphrey points out "he's a Democrat."

A Cabinet wife braver than Mrs. Humphrey is Jane Wirtz, whose husband is secretary of labor. Asked about her ball gown designer, she reminded: "I make my own clothes."

Even while campaigning, she admits she was thinking about what she'd make. It's a rosy red brocade ball gown "long and simple."

Most of the VIP women have not yet come to grips with their special clothes for the rest of the three-day 1965 inaugural festivities. And, some weren't eager to put on their best finery for the balls, either, because those events usually are so crowded — expected attendance is about 20,000 — that there's little room to dance.

Sentiment was well as style

Ohio Traffic Safety Slogan Contest Open

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Highway Safety's annual traffic slogan-essay contest was under way today with the Ohio's automobile license tag No. 1 again the top prize.

Warren C. Nelson, department director, said the contest would close at midnight Feb. 19. He ruled that every traffic safety slogan must be accompanied by a supporting essay of not more than 100 words on "why I believe my slogan will help reduce traffic accidents."

Winner of the contest is to be announced March 15 with presentation of the No. 1 tag to be made by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Meanwhile, Nelson announced that Ohio's traffic death toll for the first 11 months of 1964 totaled 1,912, up 4 per cent compared with the 1,837 deaths recorded for the same period in 1963, and up 10 per cent over the 1731 reported for 1962.

Among the states, in total traffic deaths Ohio ranked fifth, California, Texas, New York, and Illinois, in that order.

Increase for Priests

ATHENS (AP) — Premier George Papandreou has promised Greek small village priests a pay raise.

Starting Jan. 1, priests in villages of not more than 1,500 population will get 500 drachmae increase ($16.66) in their pay which now averages 1,000 drachmae ($33.33) a month.

The priests, numbering about 150, had threatened to resign if their pay was not increased.

signed by Count Sarmi. Aside from being famous in the fashion field, a standout in ball gown design, a real Italian count, now a U.S. citizen, Mrs. Humphrey points out "he's a Democrat."

Needle Taken from Boy's Right Lung

JACKSON Mich. (AP) — Donald Eberly, 14, was moved out of the intensive care ward of Jackson's Mercy Hospital Tuesday, a 2 1/2-inch sewing needle lighter and "feeling just fine."

A team of surgeons removed it from the boy's collapsed right lung Saturday.

Doctors say the lung eventually will be completely restored and Donald will be able to return home within a week. They explained the needle had penetrated upward through muscle tissue over the years.

The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Eberly, said Donald had complained of a pain in his right shoulder after a New Year's Day skiing spill.

A doctor told them it probably was a pulled muscle, but they insisted on X-rays. The pictures showed the needle had penetrated Donald's right lung and it had collapsed.

Mrs. Eberly recalls her son stepping on the needle when he was 6 or 7 years old. She said she tried to remove it but the wound festered and she left it alone. A couple of days later, she recalls, the needle was gone. She thought it had fallen out.

Major Epics

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The American film industry, riding the crest of renewed prosperity, has invested $150 million in 15 movies with hopes of continuing the boom.

"Think big" has been the key note of recent industry practice, the theory being that big pictures can mean big profits while small pictures seldom do. The system can bring near-disaster, as in the cases of "Cleopatra" and "Mutiny on the Bounty."

But epics like "Ben-Hur" and "The 10 Commandments" can buoy a company's fortunes for a year or longer. Nearly all of the major studios invested last year in large-scale films which will soon be testing their value.

Some are the road-show or hard-ticket attraction, which means they will be exhibited on a reserved-seat, advanced-price basis. Others will go into general release. All represents multimillion-dollar gambles.

Twentieth Century-Fox is the most bullish on the road-show films and will release three in 1965. They are:

"The Sound of Music," the final Rodgers and Hammerstein collaboration, starring Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer. Estimate: $8 million.

"The Agony and the Ecstasy," the Sistine Chapel portion of Irving Stone's book on Michelangelo, with Charlton Heston and Rex Harrison. Estimate: $8 million.

"Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," an early-day air epic with an international cast. Estimate: $7 million.

Biggest of the new epics is George Stevens' long-awaited "The Greatest Story Ever Told." He has steadfastly refused to reveal its cost, and United Artists also has been secretive about it. Trade observers place the eventual bill close to $20 million. The film premieres in Cinemas next month.

Washingtonians Wonder What
To Wear for Big Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — What to wear to President Johnson's inauguration?

Well, the experts are suggesting earmuffs, leotards, high boots, black tie and the prettiest long formal gown you can find.

Johnson has set a less formal tone for male inaugural fashions, but the swirl of feminine finery will be as splendid as ever.

There wasn't really a moment's hesitation among the fashion pacesetters of Washington, including the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The biggest inaugural fashion problem of all is — the weather!

Remembering the freezing snows of 1961, everyone wants to be prepared. But, for what? The Weather Bureau, looking into its record closet, says Jan. 20 temperatures in the capital have ranged as high as 71 in 1951, and as low as 8 degrees in 1940.

All this led the parade co-chairman, Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, to suggest the thousands of marchers, riders and watchers get prepared the way her Minnesota homestaters do for fashionable winter carnivals. "You can be warm as well as attractive in a parade," she maintains.

Many a drum majorette has looked lovely in flesh-colored leotards with long sleeves and float queens can look as regal and alluring in long velvet, fur-trimmed robes as they do in strapless evening gowns, for example.

Mrs. Freeman, wife of the secretary of agriculture, says the first thing she bought was high boots "and I strongly recommend everyone coming to the inaugural have them." Incidentally, high boots for ladies happen to be very fashionable.

Her next suggestion — and she's following it herself — fur earmuffs, or headbands.

And, for parade watchers, "Nothing could be more appropriate or more comfortable than ski pants or parkas with hoods."

President Johnson, of course, has announced he'll take his oath of office wearing an oxford gray suit instead of the traditional morning coat and striped pants. He hasn't decided yet whether he'll wear a hat.

More than 3,000 Texans are expected for the inaugural festivities. While undoubtedly adding a dash of homestate cowboy attire themselves, they have hopes that LBJ will get out his 10-gallon hat sometime, too.

The President's mail reflects both applause and disappointment for his decision to be informal and also to wear black tie which he considers more comfortable than white tie and tails for the inaugural balls.

Though the inaugural ball chairman, Warren Woodward, noted it wouldn't be very chic to upstage the President, it turns out there are some die-hards who have rented white tie anyway, refusing as they put it "to dress down."

The ladies never had any intention of dressing down. And, Perle Mesta, widely known Washington hostess who got the role of "social consultant to the chairman of the inaugural committee," made this what-to-wear pronouncement: "Inaugural ball: Long formal dresses."

The White House has decreed nothing will be released until Jan. 17 concerning Mrs. Johnson's inaugural wardrobe.

This secrecy posed a problem for those who don't want to turn up wearing the same color dress as the First Lady.

Fortunately, the word has leaked out in the fashion world that Mrs. Johnson's ball gown, being designed by John Moore of New York, will be yellow, for the famous rose of her Texas home state.

Now, as far as can be ascertained, Cabinet wives, inaugural officials and those likely to be in presidential proximity, are shunning yellow.

Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, silver-haired wife of the vice president-elect, is tied to the White House protocol-strings and her wardrobe will be announced with the First Lady's.

Though she usually makes her own clothes and is making one for the inaugural ceremony, Mrs. Humphrey wasn't taking any chances with the gown for the historic 1965 inaugural balls. She confided at a recent news conference that it is being designed by Count Sarmi.

Ohio Traffic
Safety Slogan
Contest Open

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Department of Highway Safety's annual traffic slogan-essay contest was under way today with the Ohio's automobile license tag No. 1 again the top prize.

Warren C. Nelson, department director, said the contest would close at midnight Feb. 19. He ruled that every traffic safety slogan must be accompanied by a supporting essay of not more than 100 words on "why I believe my slogan will help reduce traffic accidents."

Winner of the contest is to be announced March 15 with presentation of the No. 1 tag to be made by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Meanwhile, Nelson announced that Ohio's traffic death toll for the first 11 months of 1964 totaled 1,912, up 4 per cent compared with the 1,837 deaths recorded for the same period in 1963, and up 10 per cent over the 1731 reported for 1962. Among the states, in total traffic deaths Ohio ranked fifth, California, Texas, New York, and Illinois, in that order.

Increase for Priests

ATHENS (AP) — Premier George Papandreu has promised Greek small village priests a pay raise.

Starting Jan. 1, priests in villages of not more than 1,500 population will get 500 drachmae increase ($16.66) in their pay which now averages 1,000 drachmae ($33.33) a month.

The priests, numbering about 150, had threatened to resign if their pay was not increased.

signed by Count Sarmi. Aside from being famous in the fashion field, a standout in ball gown design, a real Italian count, now a U.S. citizen, Mrs. Humphrey points out "he's a Democrat."

A Cabinet wife braver than Mrs. Humphrey is Jane Wirtz, whose husband is secretary of labor. Asked about her ball gown designer, she reminded: "I make my own clothes."

Even while campaigning, she admits she was thinking about what she'd make. It's a rosy red brocade ball gown "long and simple."

Most of the VIP women have not yet come to grips with their special clothes for the rest of the three-day 1965 inaugural festivities. And, some weren't eager to put on their best finery for the balls, either, because those events usually are so crowded — expected attendance is about 20,000 — that there's little room to dance. Sentiment was well as style

Needle Taken from Boy's Right Lung

JACKSON Mich. (AP)—Donald Eberly, 14, was moved out of the intensive care ward of Jackson's Mercy Hospital Tuesday, a 2 1/2-inch sewing needle lighter and "feeling just fine."

A team of surgeons removed it from the boy's collapsed right lung Saturday.

Doctors say the lung eventually will be completely restored and Donald will be able to return home within a week. They explained the needle had traveled upward through muscle tissue over the years.

The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Eberly, said Donald had complained of a pain in his right shoulder after a New Year's Day skiing spill.

A doctor told them it probably was a pulled muscle, but they insisted on X-rays. The pictures showed the needle had penetrated Donald's right lung and it had collapsed.

Mrs. Eberly recalls her son stepping on the needle when he was 6 or 7 years old. She said she tried to remove it but the wound festered and she left it alone. A couple of days later, she recalls, the needle was gone. She thought it had fallen out.

Redlegs Study 3 'Problems'

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have a problem. Three, as a matter of fact. They are spelled Tony Perez, Tommie Gil, Tommy Helms. They are prized Redleg rookies.

Perez is a first baseman. Gil is a second baseman. Helms is a shortstop. Each was rated the best at his position in the Pacific Coast League last year. All three are regarded as outstanding big league prospects.

There's the rub. The Reds are pretty well set at first base with Dron Johnson, at second base with Pete Rose and at shortstop with Leo Cardenas.

Perez is a husky Cuban built along the lines of Orlando Cepeda. He batted .309 at San Diego, smashed 34 home runs and drove in 107 runs. He is only 22 and, according to Padres, General Manager Edie Leishman, one of the most knowledgeable men in the business, one of the finest looking natural hitters to come along in a long time.

The Reds' brass is convinced Perez, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, will hit major league pitching. But where he'll play is another question. It may be first base. It may be third. It may even be the outfield. He has played all three.

Gil doesn't have Perez' power. He is more a line drive hitter, adept in hitting behind the runner. According to Dave Bristol, San Diego manager, the 25-year-old Venezuelan is one of the best defensive players in the land. "He has the quickest pair of hands I've ever seen," Bristol said. "He will make plays that look impossible."

Gil batted .305 at San Diego, had 26 doubles but only one home run. "He'll spray the ball around, hit line drives and won't strike out much," offered Phil

Seghi, the Reds' farm directors. Helms teamed up with Gil to form the league's slickest double play combination. An outstanding glove man, he matched Perez' .309 figure and impressed observers with his aggressiveness and tremendous desire.

Tommy always has been a good hitter," said Bristol, "but last year he added power and became a more polished fielder too, mostly because he's acquired more confidence."

Helms had 25 doubles, nine triples, seven homers and 69 runs batted in. He's 23.

Lee May and Link Curtis, two other rookie infielders, will be returned for more seasoning. Both are first basemen. May, 22, displayed great promise at Macon, where he batted .303, hit 25 home runs and led the Southern League with 110 RBI. Curtis, 23, batted .251 at Reno with 41 homers and 64 RBI.

The new outfielders are Art Shamsky and John Federnson. Shamsky, 24, batted .272 at San Diego but hammered 25 home runs. Federnson, 20, hit .289 in 52 games at Cedar Rapids. Tom Tischinski, a 20-year-old catcher, is probably up for the spring training experience. He batted .247 at Macon.

Of the six new pitchers, Dan Neville, a lanky 23-year-old right-hander, has the most impressive record. He had a 14-11 record with a 2.70 earned run average at San Diego.

Ted Davidson, a 25-year-old southpaw, was in 56 games at San Diego, all but two in relief. He split 14 decisions. Also with a 7-7 record at San Diego is Tom Dove, a 25-year-old right-hander.

An outside possibility to win a berth is Dave Galligan, 22-year old right-hander, who posted a 7-18 record at Macon. Teen-agers Gary Lindholtz and Ed Hill are first-year draftees who will be farmed out. Lindholtz was 2-0 at Reading and Hill 6-2 at Cocoa.

Rio Grande Boasts Top U.S. Rebounder

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rio Grande (Ohio) boasts the No. 1 rebounder in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics in Paul Dillon. The Rio Grande star is pulling them off the boards at a 24.5 per game clip. Ashland, Ohio, leads in defense with 55.5 points per game.

5 Ohio Boys Named To All-America '11'

NEW YORK (AP)—Five Ohio high school gridgers have been named to the 95-man All-America high school football team selected by Scholastic Magazines, the national educational publications.

The Ohioans are tackle Dave Foley, Cincinnati; guards Larry Larsuel, Massillon and Paul Walker, Barborton; quarterback Brian Dowling, Cleveland, and Buster Yannon, Steubenville.

Cincinnati Offered 1966 All-Star Tilt

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Cincinnati, which has never been the site of a National Basketball Association All-Star game, will get the chance next year if it wants it.

Frank Mieuli, owner of the San Francisco Warriors which was to be the host team for the 1966 classic, said Wednesday he feels Cincinnati should be given the offer. The 1967 all-star game will be in San Francisco and the 1968 contest in Madison Square Garden at New York.

Houston's new Harris County domed stadium will seat 46,000 for baseball and 52,000 for football.

After losing its football opener to Columbia, 21-14, Colgate held eight rivals to 31 points. The Red Raiders won 7 of their last 8.

OU To Test Miami '5' Again

Take heart, Bobcat fans. Miami has to play at Athens Feb. 17.

St. Joe Cage Star Is Like His Star Dad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Matt Guokas starred for St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia during the Mighty Mites era that brought national prominence to the Hawks in college basketball nearly 30 years ago.

Now his 20-year-old son, Matthew G. Guokas, Jr. is helping the Hawks keep their lofty No. 4 spot in The Associated Press national rankings. Like his dad, the younger Guokas seldom is high scorer, but excels in defense and passing.

A 6-foot-5, 190-pound sophomore, the younger Guokas scored 12 points on six field goals Wednesday night as the Hawks set a Palestra team scoring record in crushing Seton Hall 115-81 in the opener of a Philadelphia doubleheader. In the other game LaSalle drubbed Duquesne 83-69.

Cliff Anderson, another sophomore, scored 29 points and Bill Oakes added 24 as the Hawks upped their season record to 13-1. They were the only team in The AP Top Ten to see action.

Rick Barry, the nation's leading scorer, threw in 54 points in leading the University of Miami Hurricanes to a 124-93 home-court victory over Florida Southern.

N.C. State came from behind to beat North Carolina 65-62. Miami of Ohio downed Ohio Univ. 58-48. Maryland whipped Navy 77-58. Marquette edged Wisconsin 59-58. Drake took Creighton 76-67. Tulsa squeaked by North Texas 63-57 and Harvard crushed Dartmouth 96-80.

It was the 24th straight Ivy League defeat for the Dartmouth Indians who started five sophs in the game at Hanover, N.H. Merle McClung, with 32 points, and Keith Sedlacek, with 29 points, paced Harvard. Down 17-1 and later by 21

And that may be Ohio University's last chance to catch the surging Redskins in the two-team Mid-American Conference race.

Coach Dick Shriver's strong quintet successfully met the challenge of the defending champion Bobcats Wednesday night, breaking open a tight defensive struggle in the last six minutes to prevail 58-48.

Miami now boasts a commanding 7-0 record in the league while Ohio suffered its first loss after four victories.

The Redskins, rated the class of the Buckeye state, took the lead for good, 46-45, on Waldo Williams' field goal after Ohio, trailing most of the way, tied the score at 39 - all midway through the second half.

Jeff Gehring and Charley Colrang up 16 and 15 points, respectively, for the winners while Don Hilt led the Bobcats with 15.

If Miami and Ohio win their remaining games, a distinct probability, then the Bobcats can deadlock for the lead by winning at home in that crucial Feb. 17 skirmish.

Elsewhere, Steubenville upset Youngstown, 50-48; Ohio Wesleyan rallied to whip Capital, 83-81; Bluffton walloped Wilmington, 95-79; Xavier clipped St. Francis (Pa.) 99-87; Defiance won its first by beating Adrian, 101-70 and Findlay shaded Ohio Northern 84-83.

Xavier opened up a 20-point halftime advantage behind the 30-point shooting of ace Steve Thomas and used subs in the second half to coast over St. Francis.

Ohio Wesleyan (5-0) moved to within a half game of first place Akron in the torrid Ohio Conference race as 6-foot-7 Barry Clemens led a Bishop drive in the final six minutes that overcame a 10-point deficit. Clemens, playing the final nine minutes with four personals, canned 35.

Dick Hightower, SMU center in 1951, owns a lumber yard in Tyler, Tex.

34-13, Marquette roared from behind to beat Wisconsin at Madison. A basket and a free throw by Bob Wolf put Marquette ahead for good after the Warriors had tied the score at 44-44.

Tribe Grooming New Outfielder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two years ago little Vic Davalillo hustled into Cleveland's spring training camp at Tucson, Ariz., and ran off with the Indians' regular center field job. Now he is in danger of losing it to a youngster who is just as fast as the diminutive Venezuelan.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts is not yet ready to hand over the center field post to Tommy Agee but he thinks the 22-year-old strong boy from Mobile, Ala., has the tools to become a star in the big leagues.

"Agee has everything going for him," said Tebbetts. "He has the speed and the power and he's young. He's also a right-handed hitting outfielder."

Agee, a 5-foot 11, 200-pounder, was being groomed to play center field for the Indians two years ago when an accident set the timetable back. Playing in Charleston, Agee got involved in a fight, broke his hand, and was out for the season, after playing in 193 games.

Moved up to Portland, last year, Agee batted .272 but he totaled 236 bases and stole 37 more. His extra base hits included 22 doubles, seven triples and 20 home runs and he batted in 62 runs.

"If he learns to use that bat just a little better," said Gabe Paul, the Indians' president and general manager, "he's going to be a great one. He does so many things well that even when he isn't hitting, he makes other contributions to the club."

Agee is the most promising of 16 rookies on the Indians' roster. Half of them are pitchers, the best of whom appears to be Floyd Weaver, a giant right-hander who posted a 13-10 record at Portland. The 6-foot-4, 200-pounder fanned 178 in 216 innings and turned in a .275 era.

None of the other pitchers appeared to be ready. Four are teen-agers and none is past 21. They include three from Charleston, George Culver, 11-6, Tom Kelley, 9-9, and Jim Rittwage, 2-3; Ray Mille, 9-11 at Lexington; and first-year players Mike Hedlund, Daryl Farnsworth and Jack Molini.

One of the better-looking prospects but considered at least a year or two away is Bill Davis, a strapping first baseman who led the Minnesota Gophers to the NCAA title less than a year ago. A 22-year-old, 6-foot - 6½ southpaw swinger, Davis batted .292 with nine home runs and 42 runs batted in while playing only 78 games at Charleston last summer.

"He may not be ready," said Tebbetts, "but our reports on him are very good. He has good power but he must learn to pull the ball more. Defensively, he can do the job."

Tony Martinez, who failed in his first attempt to win a regular job two years ago, is back for another shot at shortstop. He hit .275 at Portland.

Vern Fuller, another shortstop aspirant, was sidelined with a broken leg last year. Ralph Gagliano, an 18-year - old second baseman, batted .226 at Duquesne in his first professional season.

Duane Sims, a 23 - year-old

Lucas Leads East's Stars To Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Even playing against Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas, Red Auerbach manages to guide Bill Russell and the Boston Celtics to the Eastern Division title year after year in the National Basketball Association.

But Red and Russell gave professional basketball fans a change Wednesday night of what might be if they could play with the Cincinnati stars, instead of against them. Not even a team of Western Division All-Stars managed to beat them.

The Big O, Big Bill and Luke took control of the 15th annual NBA All-Star game and led the East to a stirring 124-123 victory over the West after almost blowing a 20-point lead.

"Russell, Oscar and I played on that foreign tour this summer," Lucas said, "and we were used to a lot of the things we did on the court."

Lucas, who hit 12 of 19 shots for 25 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and won the Most Valuable Player award for the game. He attributed much of his shooting accuracy to being set up by Russell.

VanRaaphorst Picked For Jobs with Bears

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Ohio State University kicking specialist Dick Van Raaphorst has joined the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Van Raaphorst, picked up by the Bears Wednesday on waivers from the Dallas Cowboys, reached the apex of his college careers when he set Big Ten records on successive weeks with field goals of 48 and 49 yards. He was drafted by the Cleveland Browns, who traded him to Dallas in August.

Redlegs Study 3 'Problems'

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have a problem. Three, as a matter of fact. They are spelled Tony Perez, Tomas Gil, Tommy Helms. They are prized Redleg rookies.

Perez is a first baseman. Gil is a second baseman. Helms is a shortstop. Each was rated the best at his position in the Pacific Coast League last year. All three are regarded as outstanding big league prospects.

There's the rub. The Reds are pretty well set at first base with Dron Johnson, at second base with Pete Rose and at shortstop with Leo Cardenas.

Perez is a husky Cuban built along the lines of Orlando Cepeda. He batted .309 at San Diego, smashed 34 home runs and drove in 107 runs. He is only 22 and, according to Padres, General Manager Edie Leishman, one of the most knowledgeable men in the business, one of the finest looking natural hitters to come along in a long time.

The Reds' brass is convinced Perez, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, will hit major league pitching.

But where he'll play is another question. It may be first base. It may be third. It may even be the outfield. He has played all three.

Gil doesn't have Perez' power. He is more a line drive hitter, adept in hitting behind the runner. According to Dave Bristol, San Diego manager, the 25-year-old Venezuelan is one of the best defensive players in the land. "He has the quickest pair of hands I've ever seen," Bristol said. "He will make plays that look impossible."

Gil batted .305 at San Diego, had 26 doubles but only one home run. "He'll spray the ball around, hit line drives and won't strike out much," offered Phil

Lucas Leads East's Stars To Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Even playing against Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas, Red Auerbach manages to guide Bill Russell and the Boston Celtics to the Eastern Division title year after year in the National Basketball Association.

But Red and Russell gave professional basketball fans a change Wednesday night of what might be if they could play with the Cincinnati stars, instead of against them. Not even a team of Western Division All-Stars managed to beat them.

The Big O, Big Bill and Luke took control of the 15th annual NBA All-Star game and led the East to a stirring 124-123 victory over the West after almost blowing a 20-point lead.

"Russell, Oscar and I played on that foreign tour this summer," Lucas said, "and we were used to a lot of the things we did on the court."

Lucas, who hit 12 of 19 shots for 25 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and won the Most Valuable Player award for the game. He attributed much of his shooting accuracy to being set up by Russell.

VanRaaphorst Picked For Jobs with Bears

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Ohio State University kicking specialist Dick Van Raaphorst has joined the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Van Raaphorst, picked up by the Bears Wednesday on waivers from the Dallas Cowboys, reached the apex of his college careers when he set Big Ten records on successive weeks with field goals of 48 and 49 yards. He was drafted by the Cleveland Browns, who traded him to Dallas in August.

OU To Test Miami '5' Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Take heart, Bobcat fans. Miami has to play at Athens Feb. 17.

St. Joe Cage Star Is Like His Star Dad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Matt Guokas starred for St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia during the Mighty Mites era that brought national prominence to the Hawks in college basketball nearly 30 years ago.

Now his 20-year-old son, Matthew G. Guokas, Jr. is helping the Hawks keep their lofty No. 4 spot in The Associated Press national rankings. Like his dad, the younger Guokas seldom is high scorer, but excels in defense and passing.

A 6-foot-5, 190-pound sophomore, the younger Guokas scored 12 points on six field goals Wednesday night as the Hawks set a Palestra team scoring record in crushing Seton Hall 115-81 in the opener of a Philadelphia doubleheader. In the other game LaSalle drubbed Duquesne 83-69.

Cliff Anderson, another sophomore, scored 29 points and Bill Oakes added 24 as the Hawks upped their season record to 13-1. They were the only team in The AP Top Ten to see action.

Rick Barry, the nation's leading scorer, threw in 54 points in leading the University of Miami Hurricanes to a 124-93 home-court victory over Florida Southern.

N.C. State came from behind to beat North Carolina 65-62, Miami of Ohio downed Ohio Univ. 58-48, Maryland whipped Navy 77-58, Marquette edged Wisconsin 59-58, Drake took Creighton 76-67, Tulsa squeaked by North Texas 63-57 and Harvard crushed Dartmouth 96-80.

It was the 24th straight Ivy League defeat for the Dartmouth Indians who started five sophomores in the game at Hanover, N.H. Merle McClung, with 32 points, and Keith Sedlacek, with 29 points, paced Harvard. Down 17-1 and later by 21

And that may be Ohio University's last chance to catch the surging Redskins in the two-team Mid-American Conference race.

Coach Dick Shriver's strong quintet successfully met the challenge of the defending champion Bobcats Wednesday night, breaking open a tight defensive struggle in the last six minutes to prevail 58-48.

Miami now boasts a commanding 7-0 record in the league while Ohio suffered its first loss after four victories.

The Redskins, rated the class of the Buckeye state, took the lead for good, 46-45, on Waldo Williams' field goal after Ohio, trailing most of the way, tied the score at 39 - all midway through the second half.

Jeff Gehring and Charley Colrang up 16 and 15 points, respectively, for the winners while Don Hilt led the Bobcats with 15.

If Miami and Ohio win their remaining games, a distinct probability, then the Bobcats can deadlock for the lead by winning at home in that crucial Feb. 17 skirmish.

Elsewhere, Steubenville upset Youngstown, 50-48; Ohio Wesleyan rallied to whip Capital, 83-81; Bluffton walloped Wilmington, 95-79; Xavier clipped St. Francis (Pa.) 99-87; DeSales won its first by beating Adrian, 101-70 and Findlay shaded Ohio Northern 84-83.

Xavier opened up a 20-point halftime advantage behind the 30-point shooting of ace Steve Thomas and used subs in the second half to coast over St. Francis.

Ohio Wesleyan (5-0) moved to within a half game of first place Akron in the torrid Ohio Conference race as 6-foot-7 Barry Clemens led a Bishop drive in the final six minutes that overcame a 10-point deficit. Clemens, playing the final nine minutes with four personals, canned 35.

Dick Hightower, SMU center in 1951, owns a lumber yard in Tyler, Tex.

34-13, Marquette roared from behind to beat Wisconsin at Madison. A basket and a free throw by Bob Wolf put Marquette ahead for good after the Warriors had tied the score at 44-44.

Tribe Grooming New Outfielder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two years ago little Vic Davalillo hustled into Cleveland's spring training camp at Tucson, Ariz., and ran off with the Indians' regular center field job. Now he is in danger of losing it to a youngster who is just as fast as the diminutive Venezuelan.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts is not yet ready to hand over the center field post to Tommy Agee but he thinks the 22-year-old strong boy from Mobile, Ala., has the tools to become a star in the big leagues.

"Agee has everything going for him," said Tebbetts. "He has the speed and the power and he's young. He's also a right-handed hitting outfielder."

Agee, a 5-foot 11, 200-pounder, was being groomed to play center field for the Indians two years ago when an accident set the timetable back. Playing in Charleston, Agee got involved in a fight, broke his hand, and was out for the season, after playing in 193 games.

Moved up to Portland, last year, Agee batted .272 but he totaled 236 bases and stole 37 more. His extra base hits included 22 doubles, seven triples and 20 home runs and he batted in 62 runs.

"If he learns to use that bat just a little better," said Gabe Paul, the Indians' president and general manager, "he's going to be a great one. He does so many things well that even when he isn't hitting, he makes other contributions to the club."

Agee is the most promising of 16 rookies on the Indians' roster. Half of them are pitchers, the best of whom appears to be Floyd Weaver, a giant right-hander who posted a 13-10 record at Portland. The 6-foot-4, 200-pounder fanned 178 in 216 innings and turned in a .275 era.

None of the other pitchers appeared to be ready. Four are teen-agers and none is past 21. They include three from Charleston, George Culver, 11-6, Tom Kelley, 9-9, and Jim Rittwage, 2-3; Ray Mille, 9-11 at Lexington; and first-year players Mike Hedlund, Daryl Farnsworth and Jack Molini.

One of the better-looking prospects but considered at least a year or two away is Bill Davis, a strapping first baseman who led the Minnesota Gophers to the NCAA title less than a year ago. A 22-year-old, 6-foot - 6½ southpaw swinger, Davis batted .292 with nine home runs and 42 runs batted in while playing only 78 games at Charleston last summer.

"He may not be ready," said Tebbetts, "but our reports on him are very good. He has good power but he must learn to pull the ball more. Defensively, he can do the job."

Tony Martinez, who failed in his first attempt to win a regular job two years ago, is back for another shot at shortstop. He hit .275 at Portland.

Vern Fuller, another shortstop aspirant, was sidelined with a broken leg last year. Ralph Gagliano, an 18-year - old second baseman, batted .226 at Duquesne in his first professional season.

Duane Sims, a 23 - year-old

I HATE TO BREAK UP THIS REUNION, BUT WE ARE NOW SURROUNDED BY TROOPS!
OH, BRICK, I'M SO GLAD YOU CAME FOR ME! TAKE OFF QUICKLY!
I WANT TO SEE THE PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL!
I'M SURE HE WILL WANT TO SEE YOU, TOO!...BUT TAKE OFF! WRITE HIM A LETTER OR SOMETHING!
THE PRESIDENT IS IN THE COURTYARD, BRICK!

MR. ABERNATHY, I WISH I COULD STOP THINKING ABOUT FOOD!
WHY DON'T YOU WORK OUT IN MY GYM—IT WILL HELP YOU FORGET.
WELL, LADY VERONICA, IS IT WORKING?
I'M AFRAID NOT.
ALL I KEEP THINKING ABOUT ARE DOUGHNUTS AND BOTTLES OF SODA!

Owners Expound Complaints on Sewer Project

The gallery was nearly full last night when a three-member equalization board conducted its initial hearing in Council Chambers on protests leveled against the city's proposed Northend Storm Sewer project.

Most of those present were property owners who have already submitted written protests concerning the controversial project. The hearing was conducted before the equalizing board in order to give the owners an opportunity to further describe their objections.

Approximately 78 written protests are on file with the clerk of City Council. Several of the objectors were present last night to voice additional comments.

The general opinion here, including that of many property owners involved, is that the project is needed. However, the problem ever since the proposal was deemed necessary by City Council in 1963 has been "who will pay for it on the basis of benefits derived."

NUMEROUS property owners within the proposed service area have claimed they will not be benefitted at all, or in proportion to assessments entailed, and have lodged complaints to this effect.

The proposed district, in general, includes all or parts of sections north of Northridge Road situated along Atwater Ave. and Georgia Road.

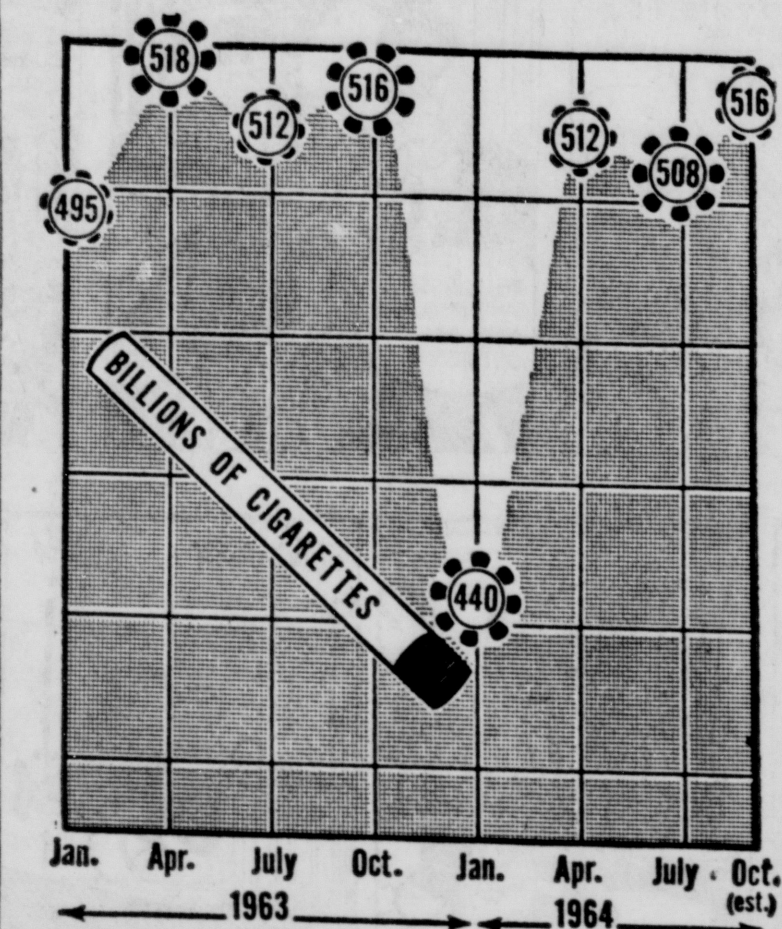

The total estimated cost of the project was set at $185,129 in 1963. However, a new survey completed by Burgess & Niple Consulting Engineers last June reduced the amount to $175,441.24. The city's portion would be in the neighborhood of $21,000, with the remainder to be paid by property owner assessment.

Frank Baum, representing Burgess & Niple, was present for part of last night's session to express engineering views. The three disinterested freeholders serving on the equalization board are Winship Story, Edgar Webb and Robert Wilson. Their next step will be to evaluate all the objections and then report back to City Council on their findings.

City Solicitor Kenneth Robbins, presiding at the hearing, described the equalization board's duties and the limitations that govern its actions. He said the panel cannot add to or remove territory from the proposed sewer area.

The solicitor explained that the board's primary objective is to correlate assessments and bring them in line with each other, then report back to City Council.

Coming: Fully Automated Grocery

NEW YORK (AP) — Imagine, housewives, shopping for your groceries in a supermarket without clerks, without market baskets and with all the products behind glass.

And with an electronic device to add up the bill and record charges in place of the usual checkout counter.

It's coming in perhaps five to 10 years the experts say. Fore-runners already have appeared in France and Sweden.

"Of course, the ultimate step may be elimination of all supermarkets," said Herbert R. Brinberg, who as market research director of American Can Co. studies such possibilities.

"I mean it very seriously. If people become accustomed to buying without touching, there's no reason they couldn't get used to ordering by video telephone two or three times a week."

Brinberg sees an automated supermarket as working like this:

The shopper enters a display section that occupies a fraction of the floor space now required. Products are arrayed in customary groupings — preserves, breakfast foods, and the like — behind a transparent partition dotted with key slots.

The shopper takes a key from her purse. The key would operate a micro-miniature electronic tape-recording device.

Choosing her brand of coffee, the shopper inserts the key into the slot in the partition, turns and withdraws it. Then she moves on to the soups, detergents and so on.

Dog Bite Treated

A dog bite was the cause of injury to one person who was treated yesterday in the emergency room at Berger Hospital. Bernice Hunsinger, 50, Route 1, Orient was bitten on the back of her right leg by the dog.

Also receiving care was Michael Good, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Good, Kingston, who fell out of bed and lacerated his chin. Both were released.

At the conclusion of her aisle-touring, she inserts the key into an electronic scanner, charge-reckoning and cleaning device hooked into a computer that starts things moving in a warehousing zone of the store.

The arrangement presupposes that the housewife will be billed at the end of the month. Provision could be made for cash collection.

The shopper then elects whether to have her purchases delivered or bagged for loading into her car.
